CLEVELAND, Feb. 10.—
A revolver, believed to have been used in the murder of William E. (Rarin) Bill
Potter, 45, former city councilman, has been found by detectives in the home of a city policeman, it was learned today.

Official report of the discovery of the pistol was made by Detective Inspector Cornelius Cody, who is in charge of the Potter murder investigation.

Pistol Is Found
Patrolman Mizer, in whose home the pistol was found, has been relieved from duty, pending an investigation of a report that a man residing near the apartment where Potter's body was found had turned over the gun to the patrolman last Wednesday, Cody said.

The weapon, stained with blood and with shreds of hair at the butt, was found in the street where the murder apartment is located, a short distance away from the scene, it was said.

Tracing the movements, moment
by moment, of the former Republican leader until the time he is believed to have met his death, police today had called in for questioning more than 20 persons—men and women—who endeavored to throw some light on the mystery surrounding the death of the man, whose mutilated body was found in an of pedestrians stumbling. The same

HARRISBURG, Feb. 10.— Advocating early adoption of an old age pension system for Pennsylvania, Governor Gifford Pinchot, in his first annual message to the general assembly, today declared against any direct appropriation of state funds for relief of unemployment unless in the event of failure of the "Pittsburgh plan" and similar efforts at relief of unemployment distress.

The governor's message, delivered to a joint session of the Senate and House, reiterated and simplified his campaign declarations regarding the Public Service Commission and public utilities, elections, the rural road system and laid great stress on unemployment. Fully a third of the address was devoted to employment conditions in Pennsylvania and a survey of the methods taken to aid workers suffering from the general depression.

by the chief executive, divides

Hamburg-American Line Offi-

Jumps In Sea

(International News Service)
HAMBURG, Germany, Feb. 10.—
The main offices of the Hamburg-American line here today received a wireless message from the S. S.
Deutschland stating that James Cooper, described as an "American millionaire," jumped overboard from the liner in mid-ocean Sunday afternoon.

"James Cooper jumped overboard on the afternoon of the eighth," the wireless read. "Attempts at rescue failed."

Twenty-five persons were rescued from the Kikusui Maru before she went down. The strong current running in the channel and the thick weather compelled abandonment of further search for the missing. All of the victims were Japanese.

The Porthos, enroute from Kobe to Marseilles, returned to port after the collision, not seriously damaged.

Senate Wants To Hold Own Probe Of Commission

Chances For Real Investigation Of P. S. C. Very Slim At Present

MOORE RESOLUTION IS IN COMMITTEE

Second Of Earnest Resolutions Is Reported Out
By Committee

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 10.—With all interested parties apparently at odds the chances of a real investigation of the public service commission today seemed very slim as the senate began its session.

That body apparently has determined upon an investigation conducted solely by its own members, without representation of the house or appointees of the governor.

At a session just prior to adjournment last night the judiciary general committee voted to report out the second of the earnest resolutions amended. The action would permit a probe not only of the commission itself but also of the charges made by the governor that a close liaison exists between the utilities operating in the state and the commission.

Volunteer Witnesses.
The resolution does not carry any provision for an appropriation to carry out the widespread investigation which it purposes. Without plenty of funds at its command such a committee could do little except to hear witnesses who might volunteer. The possibility of securing approval in the house or by the governor, both of which are necessary for an investigation by the senate alone, seems remote.

Nevertheless the senate is expected to go through the motions of passing the resolution.

The administration-backed Moore measure which provides for a joint committee on which Governor Pinchot would have representation was sent to the judiciary general com-

Ivor V. Davis Will Head Red Cross Chapter

Named Chairman Of Lawrence County Unit At Meeting Last Night

NURSES REPORT SHOWS ACTIVE YEAR

Ivor V. Davis, well known local World War veteran, was named head of the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross at their annual meeting held last evening.

Mr. Davis succeeds Attorney Clarence A. Patterson, who has been at the helm during the past year. All the other officers were re-elected as follows: Vice chairman, Mrs. David W. Ritchie; Executive secretary, Orville Potter; Treasurer, Norman A.
Clark.

Reports were submitted for the past year, showing the Chapter in a better position than it has been for several years.

The annual membership campaign resulted in 1,060 being enrolled, receipts from this source being $1,600 of which $534 was turned over to the National organization as their share.

Mrs. Pauline Gardescu field worker for Western Pennsylvania was present at the meeting last evening, and spoke in the interests of the Drought Relief program of the National organization. Mrs. Gardescu told how the situation had turned serious the first of the year, when a great increase in the number of sufferers being taken care of, forced a national appeal for funds.

The response has been most generous, and to date approximately six million dollars has been raised of the ten million dollar fund sought. The campaign will be continued, she stated, until the fund has been subscribed, as it is absolutely needed to carry out the work outlined.

More subscriptions have been received in the past ten days than at any other time during the campaign many large subscriptions having been received from the big industries of the country.

BARTENDER GIVES DETAILS OF CASE

One Woman Killed Instant-

Wounded

(International News Service)
ST. LOUIS, Feb. 10.—
Two young women were killed and a man probably mortally wounded when the trio were believed to have been "put on the spot" in a gang shooting here today.

The slaying occurred in a local saloon. Three men walked past the bar, ignoring the bartender, Harry Goebels, who dropped to the floor behind the heavy wooden bar upon their entrance, and burst in upon the trio who were seated in a small room in the back of the saloon.

According to the bartender, there was a sharp command to "raise em." But before the three could possibly have hoisted their hands a volley of pistol fire rang out, the barkeeper said.

The dead women are:
Mrs. Bessie Lynam, 30.
Mrs. Dorothy Evans, 27, a divorcée.

Man Seriously Wounded.
The wounded man is William Goebels, 23, brother of Harry Goebels, notorious local gangster who was recently "bumped off" by a gangland execution squad.

One well directed bullet accounted for each of the two women.

Mrs. Evans was shot in the right breast. A bullet in the center of her chest killed Mrs. Lynam.

Mrs. Lynam died almost instantly. Mrs. Evans succumbed soon after being taken to a local hospital.
Goebels, who was shot once in the head, once in the neck and twice in the chest, is not expected to live.

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Feb. 10.—At the session today, the Senate passed finally five bills, the first during the present session. All originated in the Senate and will now be forwarded to the house.

One of the measures approved provides for two additional judges in the fifth judicial district. It was sponsored by Senator Coyne, Allegheny.

Another aimed at the owners of castle who permit them to trespass upon privately owned land had been recommended in the committee on agriculture as to retain little of its original meaning. The penalty for conviction of the owner is "not more than ten dollars" or five days imprisonment. The original bill was sponsored by Senator Parkinson, Green.

You're the JUDGE

Old Ezra Nickle was worried over his farming. He thought that he might rent his farm out in another town. So he looked around for a possible tenant. In time he met Hick Pebbles, whom he knew slightly, and Hick expressed a desire to rent that farm. Ezra was willing to let Hick have it, but he had his doubts concerning Hick's ability to pay the rent.

So he asked Hick to get a guarantor to sign a paper guaranteeing to Ezra the prompt payment of the rent each quarter. Hick moved in and paid rent regularly for a time, but after a while he did stop paying, just as Ezra had feared. Ezra called upon the guarantor and was given a check for the unpaid account. But when Ezra, a day or so later, took the check to the bank, he learned that payment on it had been stopped. Ezra filed suit against the guarantor on the check and recovered a judgment therefor, but the judgment never was satisfied. Ezra was in despair, and on the advice of his lawyer he filed suit against Hick, his tenant.

In court Hick argued that because Ezra had received the check from the guarantor he could not now sue Hick, but should sue the guarantor.

GOVERNOR URGES OLD AGE PENSION; IN HIS MESSAGE

are rated as charitable cases and given relief. Those able and anxious to work are being placed on projects outlined by the committee in charge of the plan and given employment. The plan is financed by voluntary contributions both from employers and workers who have not been affected by the widespread recession in business and industry. The plan, Governor Pinchot declared, is workable and is "in no sense a joke."

The governor paid tribute to the Pennsylvania Unemployment Committee and the county committees aiding it in a survey of conditions in the state.

"The work of the committee," said he, "has been such as to merit the thanks of the Commonwealth. The state committee and the county committees have already made surveys of their respective communities; they have urged employers to stabilize employment as completely as possible and the Department of Labor and Industry will be organized in the near future to aid in this work."

Carries Fourteen Millions "The committee's recommendation that at least ten million dollars be set aside for a building program for state institutions has been exceeded. The budget carrier nearly fourteen million dollars for this purpose, to be available immediately, and I have also recommended transfer of ten million dollars from the General Fund to the Highway Fund for the purpose of pushing state construction work."

One of the immediate causes of recurring depression, the governor told the legislators, lies in the mobility of capital and labor and in the changes in consumption whereby increasing production of one group of commodities calls for changes in equipment and labor. It is that to see that men in need of work are not mulcted of what money they have by fraudulent private employment agencies.

The governor, after outlining the

"Pittsburgh plan," paid tribute to Edgar Kauffman, chairman of the Allegheny County Employment Committee and its outline and told the legislature that "what is being done in Pittsburgh and Allegheny county can be done in every county in Pennsylvania." He also praised the work of the Lloyd Committee in Philadelphia, which has undertaken to raise five million dollars for relief of unemployment.

Calling attention of the legislature to recommendations of the state committee that the borrowing power of local communities and of the Commonwealth itself be expanded to provide for times of depression, the governor recommended serious study of the plan.

"The committee," said he, "recommends a constitutional amendment authorizing the Commonwealth to borrow one hundred million dollars at the time of the next depression. If we had the power to put one hundred million dollars of state money in construction work at once, in addition to the one hundred and forty million dollars carried in the budget for the next two years and the sums to be spent by local governments and the federal government, the result would be to take industry out of the depths of depression and put us well on the way toward prosperity."

Against Direct Relief Funds In so many words, the chief executive declared against direct state appropriations for unemployment relief.

"I do not recommend," he stated, "that the commonwealth shall appropriate money directly for providing food, clothing and shelter for the victims of unemployment. In the first place, $140,000,000, or 40 percent of the budget, has already been recommended for work available for unemployment relief. In the second place, the state cannot borrow without a constitutional amendment. Finally, other more desirable plans are now under consideration or in effect and appear to offer the means of relief."

The section of the governor's message dealing with public utilities was, in effect, a summary of his long fight against excessive rates for what he said have become necessities of life. He repeated his charges that "the unrestrained power of public utilities to set their own rates takes from the helpless rate payers and the farmers many tens of millions of dollars every year."

While urging lower rates for public services, Governor Pinchot went on record as one believing that the return on the actual capital invested by utilities should also be fair. Turning to the Public Service Commission and using virtually the same words as the Moore resolution, introduced in the House at the governor's instance, he demanded a "thorough, open and unbiased investigation of the treatment accorded to the people of Pennsylvania by public utilities." He asked the legislature to create an investigating tribunal "so constituted that its fairness will be recognized," and indicated his belief that it should be made up not only of members of both houses but also of his own appointees to represent the public.

Approves Election Code After reviewing some of his own experiences with "crooked election boards," the governor placed the seal of his approval on the proposed election code which has been introduced in the assembly after a series of long conferences. Readily admitting that such a code could not be perfect, the governor asserted his belief that if enacted it "will immeasurably improve the present situation and go far to remove the stigma which election thieves have brought upon us."

The governor also reviewed additional details of his rural road program, stressing the thought that 20,000 miles of road could not be improved in a short period of time or even within the four years of his administration. He also declared emphatically his opposition to any additions, at present, to the system planned for adding mileage within the corporate limits of boroughs. Under the governor's plan the counties, as under the original Sproul system, will continue to be responsible for bridges and drainage system on the mileage to be acquired.

In regard to the old age pension system and abolition of inheritance taxes, the governor asserted that "both of these proposals are supported by the overwhelming majority of the voters of Pennsylvania and both are emphatically in the interests of the plain people." Proposals for amendment to the constitution, which would make both legally possible, are before the legislature but have not been acted upon.

The governor, after outlining the

STAR LORE

THE TIME WE KEEP

By Arthur Dev. Carpenter

In olden times when there were no railroads nor organized industry, the sun-dial that gives apparent solar time was satisfactory. But when uniform time became necessary, timepieces had to be constructed that would make all the hours and days uniform. To accomplish this a fictitious sun was imagined that moved uniformly, and always came to the meridian at a uniform noon referred to as "mean noon." Comparing the real sun with the fictitious sun, the real sun is sometimes a quarter of an hour behind the fictitious sun in reaching the mean noon meridian, and sometimes it is 15 minutes ahead of it.

dragged him back into his shanty. According to his allegation he did not know he had been injured until he was reawakened at eight a. m. Monday. According to Kirkwood he left at eight a. m. The shanty was dark. He handed some keys to Shoaf, who took them. He mumbled something unintelligible to Kirkwood, the latter told state police. At the time he did not know Shoaf was injured, he declared. Police found from the statements of the different men that there had been several verbal clashes between Hennessey and Shoaf and that Ryan had prevented them coming to blows.

The time for the inquest will be set when the man now sought is apprehended, by which time state police hope to have a clear, concise story of what transpired.

Mr. Shoaf was born in Shenango township February 14, 1853, the son of Thomas and Polly Conner Shoaf, and was the last of a large family. He is survived by a nephew, Isaac Shoaf, of this city, and a number of cousins.

The body is at Ritchie's funeral home and will be taken Wednesday afternoon to the home of James Hicks, 319 Sycamore street, where funeral services will be held Thursday at 2:30 p. m. Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

relief. He asserted there was no charity in gift in the bill's provision. LaFollette, speaking for a strong bloc of Republican insurgents and disappointed Democrats, charged the bill abandoned the hundreds of thousands of jobless citizens in the cities and those farmers without the security for government loans. He protested against accepting any bill which ignored the plight of so many citizens.

The drought relief debate revolved around the use of loans to purchase food. It was pointed out that President Hoover did not give congress such assurance in his recent utterances but Robinson insisted the money could be used for that purpose after being borrowed by the drought sufferers.

OFFICIALS LOCATE GUN BELIEVED ONE IN POTTER SLAYING

east side apartment Sunday night. Bullets Differ

That two gunmen were responsible for the death of Potter, central figure in the notorious land graft scandals of 1929, was the revelation of Detective Inspector Cornelius Cody today after his ballistic experts reported that bullets of different caliber were found in the murdered man's body.

Investigation so far into the slaying has convinced detectives that Potter was murdered about eight o'clock last Tuesday night. He was last seen in a restaurant by his brother-in-law, James Hoffman. Potter appeared in the best of spirits when he left Hoffman about seven o'clock Tuesday night, saying he had an engagement, police learned.

Police continued to retain the theory today that Potter was murdered, on the eve of his appearance in common pleas court to stand trial for perjury charges resulting from the land graft deals, so that he would not reveal the real facts in the case.

Hunt Man and Woman A young blonde woman, believed by police to have been the lure to get Potter to go to the apartment where he met his death, and a man who had rented the apartment, giving his name as "M. J. Marcus," were the objects today of one of the most intensive police hunts in the history of the city.

At its regular meeting last night city council passed a resolution demanding the capture of the slayers. Its resolution read: "Find the murderer of William E. Potter; we are back of you 100 per cent."

Coincident with the murder of Potter the parole of Liston G. Schooley Jr. from the Ohio penitentiary was rescinded by the board of clemency yesterday. The parole was to have been effective today.

Perhaps the Digest could end this uncertainty by sending out a questionnaire to discover when the last installments will be paid.

GIRL RESERVES FETE HIGH STUDENTS

A delightful event of Monday evening was the fete given in the gym of the Y. W. C. A. by the Senior High Girl Reserves for the senior girl students of High School.

The gym had been artfully decorated in hearts and cups, hanging from the lights and placed cleverly about the room, small tables with tall red tapered tied with white mauline, seated the hundred girls who were present. Lucille Kison was in charge of the decorating.

The orchestra, directed by Beryl Cameron, furnished the music which livened the hours and Isabel Balph directed the presentation of the program.

The girls chorus from Ben Franklin Junior High school sang several numbers, which were enthusiastically received; Roslyn Freeman presented a skit, "The Infant" which brought forth roar after roar of laughter; Altha Aiken and Emily Reynolds sang "I'm a Hayseed" and "Let Me Call You Sweetheart"; Helen Shaffer furnished some piano numbers and Dorothy Cain and Gladie Biddler gave a clever song and dance number.

At the close of the program Dorothy Cain and her committee served light refreshments at the small tables.

The affair proved most successful and the Girl Reserves hope to receive a great many of their guests as new members.

Delta Deck Club

Miss Clara Bernine, at her home on Northview avenue, proved a charming hostess last night to the members of the Delta Deck bridge club. The evening hours were spent in the playing of cards. The honors were won by Miss Lucille Emery and Miss Grace Ingham. At an appropriate hour the hostess assisted by her sister, Miss Evelyn Bernine, served a most delicious lunch.

The next meeting of the club will be in two weeks at the home of Miss Lucille Emery on Laurel avenue.

Mrs. Robert Sawatzke, a bride of a recent date was given a lovely wedding present by her associates.

The choir of Shenango chapter No. 333, O. E. S., held their monthly rehearsal and social meeting in the home of Mrs. Frank L. Doerr on Croton avenue last evening. After a rehearsal under the direction of Mrs. Harriet Hammond, a social hour was enjoyed. The hostess was assisted in serving delicious refreshments by Mrs. Clarence V. Pyle.

COLONIAL TEA WILL FEATURE GATHERING

Mrs. E. E. Seavy of Highland avenue received in her home, members of the Current Events class Monday afternoon, with Mrs. Frank Butz and Mrs. J. Dwyer as critics.

The majority of the ladies were in attendance, and as special visitors, they had Mrs. J. Norman Martin and Mrs. Carpenter.

The usual business session was held, and it was announced that their annual Colonial Tea will be held at the First United Presbyterian church on February 23. The activities will start promptly at 6:30 o'clock.

Other matters were given attention at this time, and the discussion of current topics closed a most successful meeting.

Monday, March 9 marks the date of the next regular meeting and will be with Mrs. Albert Treser, Garfield avenue. The critics for this date will be Mrs. John Nothdruff and Mrs. Albert Street.

Class Is Entertained

Mrs. Jennie Morgan and Mrs. L. W. Tate entertained members of the Mothers' class of the Primitive Methodist church in the home of the former on Euclid avenue Monday evening for the regular monthly meeting.

The devotional period was led by Isaac George, teacher of the class after which a short business session took care of the routine matters in hand.

Mrs. William Moeckel had charge of an interesting program which consisted of group singing by the members; a solo by Mrs. T. H. Bowen, accompanied by Mrs. A. Bowland; Bible questions by Mrs. Mary Lewis and a general discussion of Bible questions.

The social period was concluded with a dainty lunch, appointments and menu being cleverly carried out in Valentine suggestions. The hostesses were assisted by Mrs. Lee Davis, a daughter of Mrs. Morgan.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR FRIDAY BRIDGE

The property near the Jameson Memorial hospital, which was purchased by the city, will surely see the setting out of a great number of trees this spring if the members of the Woman's club have their way, as plans are completed for the style show and bridge party to be held Friday evening on the second floor of the New Castle Dry Goods store.

All those who have been called upon to aid in any way in the success of the event have been most gracious in their response and the women in charge are looking forward to having the spacious room filled with those interested in this project. The city has purchased this property and it is the wish of the Woman's club to beautify the park by the placing of memorial trees.

Cards will again be the prizes for the evening, with two decks being awarded at each table in play. Many donations of various kinds have been received for the affair as it seems the entire city is interested in the new park.

The floor committee chairman, Mrs. E. A. Fenton has divided her committee up so that everyone has something to do. When Miss Mary Agnew, Mrs. P. J. Flaherty, Mrs. C. C. Green or Mrs. H. T. Frushour call a member of the club, asking for table covers, please be ready with your answer, as there will be needed about a hundred covers.

Mrs. Hice, Mrs. J. M. Darbaker and Mrs. David Moore are responsible for the candy on the tables.

Mrs. Wm. Moody, Mrs. C. R. Balph and Mrs. C. W. Mayberry are arranging for the dishes for the party.

Intermediates' Party

About 65 girls and boys of the Intermediate department of the First Baptist church met in the basement of the church Monday evening to honor members of the classes taught by Laura Whitlatch, Mabel Morrison and Glenn Johnson.

Williams is superintendent of the department and Myrna Smith secretary, with Marjorie Snyder, Mrs. W. C. McCalmont, Paul Arroy and Rudolph Theis teachers of the losing classes.

Games and contests of various kinds kept the young people amused and an interesting feature was the showing of moving pictures of the Sunday school, which had been taken at a previous time. These were shown by Verna Bailor.

To conclude the enjoyable evening a delicious lunch was served in the dining room, the color scheme of red and white being cleverly carried out in the valentines and hearts used.

When the lunch was over, the gallantry of three boys, Jack Muse, John McClelland and Lester Triplett, was shown when they went into the kitchen and volunteered to help wash dishes and these were soon done up and put to their places as if by magic and the good will and skillfulness with which the boys performed the task would cause envy in the hearts of most girls.

The young folks departed for their home all looking forward to another party of this kind in the near future.

Class Will Entertain

CURRENT EVENTS '23 HEARS FINE REPORTS

When The Current Events of '23 met at the home of Mrs. C. J. Baker Monday afternoon, splendid reports were made by the different committees.

Mrs. Sara Wright gave an account of the Legislative committee meeting held Saturday evening, January 31 in the home of Mrs. W. A. Taylor.

Mrs. Reider reported considerable work being done by the club members through the Home committee. Special attention being given to this work.

An English drill conducted by Mrs. F. P. Andrews was very instructive. Extracts from the address of President Hoover which was made during the recent White House Conference on Child Health and protection were read. A rare quality of tenderness and beauty characterized the address of President Hoover; this allusion to children will long linger in the minds of all who heard it; "They are the most wholesome part of the race, sweetest for they are fresher from the hands of God."

An intensely interesting discussion on "Civic Pride" concluded the program.

Mrs. Stella Dunfee gave an interesting talk on Buddhism, Mohammedism and Confucianism. Mrs. Ed McClaire pleased with a piano number.

A period of games created plenty of amusement these were directed by Helen Hinkson, Mrs. Nellie McKee and Mrs. Eleanor Everett.

The home was prettily decorated in keeping with the Valentine season and in the serving of dainty refreshments, the table was centered with a birthday cake on which there were four candles. Valentine season favors were at each guests place. Mrs. Barkby was assisted by Mrs. Harold Dodds and Mrs. C. L. Martin. The honor guest was the recipient of a number of nice gifts.

The guests of the occasion were Mena Lou Nicholson, Junior Berkheimer, Eddie Busch, June Marie Skuber, Tommy Dodds, Mary Ann Bell, Stanley Martin, Betty Bloomer, Ted Bloomer and the honor guest Frederick Barkby.

NO COURT MARTIAL FOR MAJ. GEN. BUTLER

ANNOUNCEMENT made yesterday at Washington, that the court martial scheduled for Maj. Gen. Butler, of the Marines, had been called off, was received with gratification throughout the nation, we would hazard a guess.

There seemed to be scant reason for calling the trial in the first place, after the apology had been made to Italy and had been accepted. And, when the indications pointed to a long drawn out sensational trial of the Marine leader on his statement that Mussolini was a hit and run driver, it looked as though there was going to be a lot of dynamite exploded without necessity.

So, we probably are reflecting the spirit of most Americans when we say that the action of the government at Washington in calling off the court martial was a move that will be given wide spread approval.

Maj. Gen. Butler expressed his regret that his statements had caused the government embarrassment, and he in turn was given a severe written reprimand by the secretary of the navy.

And so, it is to be hoped that the end of this episode is reached and that it will be allowed to die.

THE "RAIN-MAKING" HUMBUG

In times of prolonged drought, such as has been afflicting sections of the United States during the year, we are beset with a plague of "rain-making" theories and theorists which do actual harm in some instances.

Human ingenuity has devised no way of producing artificial rain in any quantity. This is the official statement of the United States Weather Bureau. The one astonishing fact in connection with the statement is the necessity of issuing it.

The necessity, however, seems real. "Rainmakers" have been wandering here and there throughout the drought-inflicted regions peddling their ideas for bringing moisture from the sky. Many of them have actually found markets for their schemes, taking the hard-earned dollars from persons who can ill spare them, and who will get nothing but bitter experience in return.

Rain is a natural phenomena, induced by natural means. No artifices of man—gunpowder, electrified sand, chemical juggling, or what not—can produce any moisture worthy of the name. "Rain-makers" are simply taking money under false pretenses. When everybody understands this, there will be fewer dollars squandered and not so many disappointments.

LEISURE FOR READING

Book publishers join public librarians in testifying to the growth of the reading habit in America. Edward S. Mills, president of the National Association of Book Publishers, declares that reading has held its own against jazz, bridge, golf (regular and miniature), motoring, talkies and radio. Despite the great popularity of all those attractions, increasing numbers of persons find time to read books. Despite the business depression, increasing numbers of readers find the cash to buy books. The number of books sold yearly has doubled in the last decade.

Perhaps our leisure isn't such a problem as some worried persons have thought. If sports and reading both are increasing, isn't the trend hopeful?

It is probably true that not enough Americans as yet know how to "loaf and invite their souls," but even that may come in time.

If so, the streets of our cities contain many living examples of persons who are undeserving of citizenship.

Stopping in a small town a traveling man said to a prospective customer:

"It has been twenty years since I was here last. Many buildings gone up since then?"
"No," replied the resident, "none that I know of."

"Any new railroad or street cars?"
"No."

"Planning any improvements?"
"No."

"Well," said the traveling man, "I've been all over this country, and this is the first town I have seen that is what you might call actually finished."

ly, little Peter, the boy with red hair, freckles and a twinkle in his eye raised his hand for attention. "Did you make one up so soon?" asked the teacher smiling down upon him.

EMERSON HAD AN AUNT

I've been reading a life of Ralph Waldo Emerson, by Phillips Russell and what I remember mostly from a big book of more than 300 pages is that the beloved philosopher had an aunt. If there had been no Aunt Mary Moody Emerson, there might have been no great Ralph Waldo Emerson at all.

He came of a sickly family, with five brothers and one sister. The sister died in her third year. His oldest brother died when a boy. Another lost his reason in his twenties.

Still another was mentally deficient and was kept isolated on a farm all his life. His closest brother, Charles, died of tuberculosis when he was just a young man. Only one of the brothers was rugged, and that one was not the great Emerson.

Emerson had little physical stamina. The grave was close to him all the first half of his life. What chance of fame for a youth like that? Let him linger and loaf and regret the weakness of his body.

But Aunt Mary was a tyrant. A little, fair, blue-eyed woman, with yellow hair and delicate pink cheeks, Phillips Russell says she was "born with a Napoleonic soul in a frail feminine body." She did not marry.

She had no sons of her own. But she made Ralph Waldo Emerson her true son. "Upon him she fixed a haughty, glittering eye, and summoned him to be great. He MUST be great. And Ralph, smiling and obedient, began to climb toward those peaks to which she pointed.

At first he ascended haltingly and with many pauses, but at length with gathering confidence, reporting at intervals to Aunt Mary, where she stood at the foot of the ladder, pistol in hand.

She said to him: "Scorn trifles! The stars or nothing!" And she lived to be enormously proud of her nephew. She lived on a remote Maine farm and concealed her pride in the woods, scolding him from a distance.

The frail, feeble lad lived to be nearly 80 years old—the greatest but Lincoln of his time—and when he died Walt Whitman wrote of him: "He was just a man, poised on himself, all-loving, all-enclosing, and clear as the sun."

But who knows what he might have been if he hadn't had an aunt?

THE SYSTEM HAS BEEN A SOURCE OF controversy in the State for more than 60 years," says the PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, believing that "the public is in no mood to accept further makeshifts on the subject."

The Post-Gazette refers to the Mussmanno bill, which would have restricted the jurisdiction of the industrial police to the property of their private employers, and voices the judgment as to that measure:

"It seems to come closest to a fair solution of the problem. There is no disposition to deny the companies the right to protect their property by whatever number of guards or watchmen they deem necessary, but there is a vast difference between a guard who can take effective action only on the company's property, and a police officer with a 'roving' commission who can make arrests anywhere."

The Pittsburgh paper offers the comment on Governor Pinchot's plan, with the doubt it would stand the test of constitutionality, and emphasizing the provision that it would compel the companies desiring the service of the police to reimburse the State for their salaries. The men commissioned on this basis would not have the same security in their jobs that the regular State trooper enjoys.

They could hardly be expected to forget the fact that they might have to look elsewhere for a livelihood if the companies involved became dissatisfied and stopped paying their salaries. The control which would be exercised by reason of this arrangement would be less direct than under the existing system, and to that extent an improvement, but there would be no compromise between the principal that the State should not barter its police power."

"Generally speaking," according to the NEW CASTLE NEWS, "the State police have no rival. Although very efficient body. Men cannot be bettered in it for permanent protection of the vast mining industry. But since these industries must be policed, the next best thing is to provide them with forces adequate for all requirements to be paid out of company funds but responsible to government authority. The principal is sensible. Details of the plan will reveal whether it is practical."

"Perhaps the future," thinks the ALTOONA MIRROR, "may witness the coming of a day when conditions between the mine owners and their employees have become perfectly friendly and so continuously harmonious as to justify the disbandment of coal and iron police in every section of the country. The cultivation of friendly relations, based upon mutual confidence and good will, is a greatly to be desired and far from impossible incident of the not distant future. Present conditions increase the hopeful spirit."

"The better policy," in the judgment of the DES MOINES TRIBUNE-CAPITAL, "would be to leave police functions to the regular police, paid from taxation, as in other states. The coal and iron police of Pennsylvania have made a record of brutality and anti-social activity which should not be continued by an organization by another name and with its pay from a private source. The police functions rightly belong to the State and to the State alone. Separating the functioning from the financing never really works."

The COLUMBUS OHIO STATE JOURNAL remarks that "doubtless Governor Pinchot expects a fight, and continues: 'Incidentally it would give him a new national prominence, and he is supposed to have his eye on the presidential campaign in 1932. With his dry fight, his effort to overthrow the old state organization, his pledge of loyalty demanded of appointees and his effort to eliminate private police he bids fair to have a busy term in his high office."

Of the old system the RALEIGH NEWS AND OBSERVER says: "It was turning over a government function to private interests and often they had a record of brutalities inflicted on workmen. Governor Pinchot has disbanded this force. Hereafter the State will name the men who enforce the law. Thirty years ago North Carolina had a law permitting private corporations to name policemen upon the approval of the Governor. During a strike on the Seaboard Air Line the officials of the road asked Governor Aycock to authorize the road to name policemen who would be under their direction. Governor Aycock declined, saying: 'The sovereign State of North Carolina will preserve order through its own appointed officials.'

Two measures passed by the Legislature of 1929 are viewed by the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN as leading up to the present situation. That paper quotes former Governor Fisher as having stated that neither the Mussmanno bill nor the Mansfield bill met with his views on the limitation that should be placed on industrial policemen, but that latter measure, which was accepted, made it possible for "the curb on abuse of power by these 'private' police in State uniform to be applied by the regulatory board" set up by the measure. Pointing out that "agitation against this body of police was one of the issues on which Governor Pinchot took a definite stand in his campaign through the mining districts, pledging his efforts for the abolition of private control over such police and the substitution of a system of State police, with expense of maintenance borne by the private interests served," the Bulletin concludes that, "the mining properties need adequate police protection, which neither the existing State police organization nor local police can provide."

It emphasizes Governor Fisher's promise that "he would accomplish desired restraints by the exercise of Executive power and the provision that, if such regulation was not effective, he could summarily remove any or all of the force."

The system has been a source of controversy in the State for more than 60 years," says the PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, believing that "the public is in no mood to accept further makeshifts on the subject."

The Post-Gazette refers to the Mussmanno bill, which would have restricted the jurisdiction of the industrial police to the property of their private employers, and voices the judgment as to that measure:

History Of Men, Animals Shows Need Of Consuming Much Food In Raw State

Human Bodies Adapt Themselves To Substances In Diet Which Have Become Necessities, Says Expert

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
Animals depend on a supply of vitamins for healthy existence. Nothing in physiology, nothing in hygiene, is more certain than that. The development of this dependence is an interesting study in adaptation.

It began when animals, the very lowest in the scale, began to consume other living creatures—other animals and plants. They ate their food in the raw state. Getting it in the raw state, they took in a great many of these chemical substances we now call vitamins.

The development of the process we call animal nutrition was all a gradual process of adaptation. It was not laid out beforehand as a divine plan or as a rigid plan. Animal machinery found protein, fat and starch in its food, and adapted itself to utilize them. In the course of time they became necessities. Animals now cannot get along without them. But it is quite possible to imagine that if they had begun to eat raw minerals—phosphorus, iron, sulphur, carbon, etc.—they could have learned to use them instead of organic materials. And their evolutionary process of adaptation would have been such that they could not get along without raw sulphur and phosphorus and would have starved to death on a diet of animal and vegetable food.

One of the things animals adapted themselves to was raw food. They had to. The little fishes in the Mesozoic sea had no one to cook them; lobster a la Newburg any more than the little fishes in the present seas. The little monkeys in the trees lived off raw fruits and uncanned tomatoes. And in the course of time raw foods or the substances that were in raw foods became absolute necessities to the animal machinery.

It would be a great deal more convenient to man if his machinery had not become adapted to the necessity of raw substances. For in the meantime he has learned to cook. And by cooking he can make his food taste better and last longer. By last longer I mean he can save it over from one meal to the next without having it putrify. But very largely the cooking does destroy his necessary vitamins. Some such as vitamins A and D, are less destroyed than others, but all are to some extent affected. So man has some raw substances—orange, salad, oysters, milk, butter—served with his cooked food.

Since he cannot conveniently "evolute" away from this dependence on raw products, man's ingenuity has come to his rescue. The canning industries have found methods of preserving food without destroying the vitamin content. The methods are not adapted to home preserving, and most home preserves are lacking in vitamins. But it is comforting to know that most canned fruits and vegetables still retain much of these vital necessities.

CHEWTON
The orchestra of the Chewton Christian church will practice at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Durbin Tuesday night.

There will be preaching services at the church Wednesday night at 7:30. The subject will be "Paul Before Felix."

The prayer meeting service of the church will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Davis on Friday evening.

The revival services will begin next Sunday morning and will continue throughout the week of Feb. 15th. Rev. P. E. Britton of Clearfield, Pa., will preach each evening. Especially good music will feature each service. Rev. Britton has been an exceptionally successful pastor and has done some fine building up of weak churches for a number of years.

A number of the Wampum Troop Boy Scouts attended the evening worship at the Chewton Christian church. This was in connection with the 21st anniversary of the birthday of the Scout movement. Appropriate remarks were made by the pastor in welcoming the boys and sketching their work. The pastor also stated that plans are under way to establish a Boy Scout troop in Chewton; the church officials having granted the privilege of using the church basement as a meeting place and indicating a desire to co-operate in the work.

SUNSHINE MELLOWS Heat Purifies

LUCKIES are always kind to your throat

The advice of your physician is: Keep out of doors, in the open air, breathe deeply; take plenty of exercise in the mellow sunshine, and have a periodic check-up on the health of your body.

Everyone knows that sunshine mellow—that's why the "TOASTING" process includes the use of the Ultra Violet Rays. LUCKY STRIKE—made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED"—an extra, secret heating process. Harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos are expelled by "TOASTING." These irritants are sold to others. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat.

Best Air To Breathe Is Found On Outside

"The other day two young women complained to the medical director of a large corporation that the room in which they worked with fifty other clerks improperly ventilated. Investigation indicated that the company had furnished ventilators but that their use was left to the whims of the occupants. The significant fact in this situation was that by far the greater majority of these indoor workers were not only willing for, but actually insisted upon, a minimum of outside air and a temperature far in excess of safety," said Doctor Theodore B. Appel, State Secretary of Health, today.

"Indeed, it is almost safe to say that the attitude of the average person regarding heat and ventilation is likely to be based upon his own idea of physical comfort rather than upon the more logical foundation of health requirements.

"While modern office buildings frequently regulate heat and fresh air automatically, the home on the other hand is still one's castle with which one can do much as he pleases. And unfortunately he pleases to do entirely too much with heat and too little with ventilation.

"For many, outdoor air loses caste just as soon as it becomes chilly or cold. And c'en the persons who are most prompt in turning their backs upon it are those who glory in their wholesale use of nature's charms during the warm months.

"Summer or winter, however, the best air that one can breathe is to be found on the outside. It follows that a low temperature is absolutely no excuse for any person to crawl into his shell, hug the radiator and attempt to insulate himself from the fresh breezes. What one should do is to make use of the zesty winter air by getting as much of it as possibly into the body daily. Long walks and adequate ventilation in the homes are ways by which this can be best accomplished.

"Hibernating is all right for bears and hothouses are ideal for tender plants, but neither of these conditions, so frequently indulged in by many, are healthful for human beings. Therefore, keep the inside temperature to 68-72 degrees, flush the house daily with fresh air, use ventilators in the rooms most occupied, and have large size moisture pans constantly filled with water attached to the radiators. These simple rules, if adopted, will go a long way in removing the menace of colds and worse, which too often get their start in over-heated and de-vitalized bodies. Keep the home fires burning but keep them and yourself under control."

Excuse It Please—California may have a better climate than Chicago, but the air isn't as "Bomby."

The Parent Problem

by GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Parents May Make Liars Out Of Their Own Children

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D., Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

Conscientious parents frequently, in their innocence, make liars out of their own children. When that youngster, say of five or six, comes to you with a great tale which you know cannot be possible, and you are shocked by the vividness with which he tells it, you may, in your serious mood, apprise him of your shock and say to him, "That is a lie." You meant to tell him that it could not be possible. But it was possible for the child's imagination. You did not understand that this child lived in a world of fancy, and that what to you is unreal or imaginative was to him reality, in the world of fancy which he built.

I remember when my eldest lad, about four and a half years old, came running into the room one morning in the presence of his grandmother, shouting: "I shot a bear last night. I killed him, grandma. I killed him." The grandmother looked surprised, and she was about to say something of her feelings, but she wisely held her tongue. After gaining her equilibrium she replied, "You did?" "Yes, grandma. I killed him with my gun," was his reply. Of course he did. Under such instances we made it a rule always to live in the experiences of the child and to accept them as real experiences of his.

So far as we have been able to measure the results, no ill has come of it. On the other hand, a great deal of happiness and good have followed. By and by it was our duty to show to that child that what he said was true, he was playing to be true. We would say for example, "Yes, let us play that you did" this or that—and be satisfied. He could readily see, as he grew older, that what came forth from his fancy did not always check up with facts as he found them about him. But never, so far as possible, did we suggest to him that what he said were lies. As a matter of fact, it is a good thing to keep the word "lie" out of a small child's vocabulary until he is seven or eight. If, in his innocence, he tells us something that really happened in his infancy and which to him was a reality, and we dub that a lie, he begins to think of a lie as a part of his true experience. So far as he is concerned, we then make a lie out of something that had been truth.

The trouble with us older people is that we are so far from childhood that we cannot see things as children see them, nor understand them in terms of their understanding. The best rule for us is to ask ourselves: "What is his motive back of it?" A lie is only a lie when it is intended to be a misrepresentation. Now the small child does not, in such instances as we have noted, aim to misrepresent. He usually speaks from the fullness of his own experience. Let us remember this and act accordingly.

I shall be glad to answer, in these columns, questions addressed to me in care of this paper, provided these questions seem to be of general interest.

If you have a question you would like to have answered personally, write me enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Do You Recall?

Boyd was the first postmaster and introduced "Free Delivery" in the community. When he received mail, he put it into his hat, it is said, and delivered it to his customers.

He sold his store to Patrick Wilson.

Peter's Adventures

PETS TWO AND TWO TOGETHER

"Bless my whiskers," cried Busy. "My old boy friend, unless my eyes deceive me." Rushing forward, Busy wrapped her antennae around Peter and covered the boy's face with ant-kisses which, to tell the truth, felt very wet and uncomfortably sticky. But Peter was so glad to see his dear old friend that he didn't mind a bit, and he hugged her so hard that the little ant cried out for mercy.

"Ouch, you are crushing my third leg," she wailed. "Stand off, boy, and let me look at you. My, but you are a sight for sore eyes."

Peter laughed and then remembered Lively. What was Slave Ant thinking about all this? Would she be angry because he had not told her the whole truth in the beginning?

He glanced at the Black Ant slave out of the corner of his eye. Instead of scowling and looking cross, Lively was smiling a Black Ant smile.

"You thought you could fool me, boy, didn't you?" demanded Lively. "Well, I have known all along that you were a friend of the new cap-tives. You gave yourself away when I mentioned her the first time. Besides, when one of the scouts reported that she had spied a Human in Black Ant hill who was a friend of a certain Black Ant named Busy, I was on the outlook for you. And when Busy was brought in a captive and you followed, I put two and two together and guessed you had come to her rescue."

"Sh-h! Someone might overhear you," Peter was alarmed for the consequences should any of the Red Ants find out why he had really come to Red Ant hill. Could he and Busy trust Lively? After all, Lively was a slave to the Redskins, and she had her own interest to look after.

Next: "As Black Ant to Black Ant."

Bo Broadway

by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

By Central Press
NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Peggy Joyce, chief of America's Blondes Preferred, after twenty years of marriage to seven husbands' advises women questioning attractiveness to get all the sleep they can.

"I sleep a lot," says Peggy. "Not, of course, always during the night. Sometimes I don't get up till it's time to dress for dinner and go out again. But sleep is sleep, whether the sun is shining or not. Never permit anything to interfere with that."

REVISED MAXIM.
Sleeping till dinner time and then faring forth, bears out the old Broadway adage:
"Early to bed, early to rise—and you'll never meet any prominent people."

COCKTAIL COMPLEXION.
Peggy opines that a woman who wishes to retain her good looks "lay off highballs and cocktails."

She is substantiated in this by no less an authority than the inimitable Billie Burke:

"A few drinks every day," says Billie, "are worse for a woman's appearance, in the long run, than getting positively pie-eyed, twice a year."

But that, after all, is just another instance of the doubtful value of "expert testimony."

Most of us will go right on believing that alcohol has nothing to do with female pulchritude, until we hear of the first newspaper reader mistaking a picture of Ella Boole for Peggy Joyce.

WOMEN CONNOISSEURS

Men who devote their lives to the investigation of such things, say, that when it comes to excursion into the unexplored regions of the art of dining, women have men backed up in a corner.

An examination of records covering four million diners in New York hotels, reveals that rare delicacies and dishes are ordered for the most part by female diners. Men stick close to the dishes they know; and especially when alone, order such well known classics of the table as roast beef, steaks, chops, chicken pie, corned beef and cabbage, ham and eggs, and, of course, hash.

"QUIET" DAY AT ASTOR

Speaking of things gustatory: A fact not generally known is that in one year, at the Hotel Astor more banquets are served than in any other single establishment on earth. Their facility in this direction is almost miraculous.

Four months ago, in twenty-four hours, from noon to noon, the following schedule was handled without a slip:

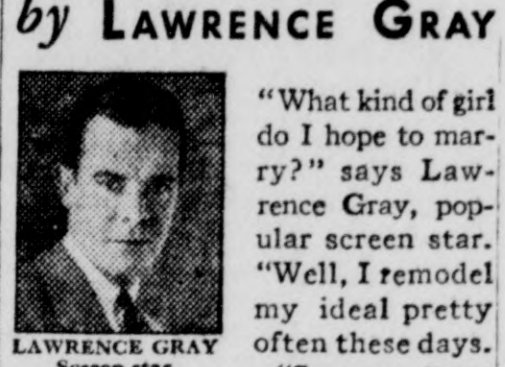

Five hundred women fluttered in at 12 o'clock for a luncheon dance. At 2 p. m. the tables were down, the carpet up, the floor cleared and waxed for dancing, and a platform built for the orchestra. The women checked out at 5 p. m.

An hour later the room was renovated, re modeled, re-set for 1,500 of "The Grand Street Boys," with Alfred E. Smith in the vanguard. At 11 p. m. it was cleared for dancing, another orchestra platform was erected and the party broke up at 4 a. m.

The houseman, carpenters and the rest kept up their pace. In two hours they had the ballroom ready for the annual New York Police Department Holy Name Society break-

"WHY I SHALL PROBABLY MARRY AN ACTRESS"

by LAWRENCE GRAY

"What kind of girl do I hope to marry?" says Lawrence Gray, popular screen star. "Well, I remodel my ideal pretty often these days. "So many types are alluring—blondes, brunettes—the ones that are tall and distant—the ones that are short and confiding... "Youthful radiance is the thing I admire most in a woman. I'd want the girl I married to know how to keep it, too, right through her life! "That's why I say I may marry an actress! Everyone knows how marvelously they stay young year after year."

What is the actresses' complexion secret? Hollywood, Broadway, European actresses guard complexion beauty — KEEP youthful radiance with Lux Toilet Soap! This fragrant, lovely white soap is found in theatres everywhere; it is the official soap in all the great film studios. Here is the caress of dollar-a-cake French soap for just 10¢.

SUPERLATIVE AFFAIRS.
The police affair was the world's biggest breakfast. The world's biggest luncheon was held at the same hotel in 1929 for Premier Ramsay MacDonald. 5,100 were on hand. The biggest dinner was for the 27th Division fresh from France; 8,000 attended in the grand ballroom and suite.

PROGRESS MINUS HARMONY.
And in the same town where such things are possible, the task of simplifying the function of living, progresses uninteruptedly. Mechanical substitutes are daily being devised for every human need. The latest is an automatic grocery in your own apartment house, responding to the click of an inserted coin and disgorging canned goods, meats and vegetables.

Science does everything for the New York home except hold it together.

The New Way Doctors Use For Fat

A Simple Gland Food

Modern doctors no longer advise starvation diet to the over-fat. Nor drugs to attack the fat. Science has found that a great cause of excess fat lies in a weakened gland. Thus comes a scant supply of a secretion which largely controls nutrition. Too much food goes to fat, too little to fuel and energy.

Doctors the world over now supply that lack, with the very factor long employed in Marmola prescription tablets.

Marmola is prepared by a famous medical laboratory, to supply the right factors at a low cost so all may have the benefit. People have used it for 24 years—millions of boxes of it. Users have told others the results, and multitudes have thus attained the normal figures all desire.

No secrets about it. A book in each box gives the formula and tells you how and why it acts. As the pounds go, there comes new joy in living. Just because the body gets a factor that it needs.

Marmola costs only $1 a box at your drug store. Go get it and watch the results. Do that in justice to yourself. Do it because so many folks around you have benefited by it. Then tell others who need this help. Go start today.

MAKING ONE DOLLAR DO THE WORK OF TEN

MORE than 80 billion dollars of our annual trade volume represent business transacted on credit. By means of credit the average dollar is made to do the work of ten. This credit fabric is held together by Stock Fire Insurance.

Underlying this vast commercial turnover, serving to give it the stability which credit demands, are the more than 150 billions of dollars the stock companies have at risk against fire, with an almost equal amount covering hail, windstorm, earthquake, and other hazards.

STOCK FIRE INSURANCE

performs many functions. The principal ones are: 1—Payment of losses; 2—Prevention of fire; 3—Stabilization of credit.

Stock Fire Insurance thus provides a service that makes the uncertain certain; that protects the individual's investments and shields him against disaster; that enables destroyed properties to be replaced.

mittes and its chances of being reported to the floor of the senate also seem remote.

Test of Strength.

Last night's session furnished what seemed to be the first test of strength in regard to the proposed probe.

The vote came on the move of Senator Earnest to recommit to the committee of which he is chairman the first resolution which he sponsored. It provides for a joint legislative investigation but without executive representation.

Senator Buckman opposed sending the resolution back to committee and in interrogating Senator Earnest asserted that the senate "could not blow hot and cold" and that the situation demanded action at once.

While agreeing with the necessity for immediate action Senator Salus of Philadelphia launched into an attack on the charges made by the governor and urged that it be sent back to committee. He was interrupted by Senator Harris, Allegheny, who insisted that senate rules do not permit speeches on a motion to recommend.

By a vote of 30 to 20 the Earnest resolution was sustained. Those who at first supported the first Earnest resolution see little chance of it ever again appearing on the senate floor.

Senate Adopts Resolution.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 10.—Without the formality of a record vote, the senate today accepted the Earnest resolution providing for an investigation of the public service commission.

Under the provisions of the resolution, second of the series presented in the upper chamber by Senator William H. Earnest, Dauphin, the investigation will be conducted by the judiciary general committee of the senate and neither the house nor Governor Pinchot will have representation on the investigating body.

While the senate was still discussing the provisions of the resolution, Governor Gifford Pinchot from his office at the other end of the Capitol issued a statement charging that the move was an attempt to "whitewash the public utilities" and to "prevent the people of Pennsylvania from getting the facts."

The governor said that he had asked his friend in the senate to vote for the resolution and that even though the judiciary general committee is "packed" he will be glad to appear. He insisted that he was interested in only one thing and that was "to get the facts before the people."

The governor also hinted of the possibility of a like probe by the house through which "the truth can be found and told to the people of Pennsylvania." The possibility of such a course, according to the governor, depends on whether the senate move is a "whitewash or a probe."

That the forces friendly to the governor did not intend to oppose the Earnest resolution became evident when Senator Buckman, Bucks, the floor to say that he would vote for it last night. Buckman voted against committing the first Earnest resolution to committee and is looked upon as the administration floor leader.

Buckman in supporting the resolution said it was not in the form in which he would like to see it and insisted that the majority of the judiciary committee are "presumed to be friendly to the Governor." Nevertheless, he said, he was willing to take Senator Earnest at his word and believe that the judiciary committee proposes a genuine probe of the public service commission.

Hitler Backers Threatening To Quit ReichstagAngered Over Passage Of Measure Hitlerites Plan
For New Move(International News Service)
BERLIN, Feb. 10.—Angered over passage of a measure depriving deputies of parliamentary immunity from court prosecutions, Franz Stoehr, vice-president of the Reichstag and fascist spokesman, announced today that the followers of Adolf Hitler will withdraw from the Reichstag.

It is understood the Hitlerites plan to open their own assembly at Weimar in Thuringia, where a fascist government is in power. The announcement, believed unprecedented in German parliamentary history, was followed by formal exodus from the chamber of the 112 fascist deputies, elected in the sensational polling of last year when Hitler, with his threats to "send heads rolling in the sand" rose from comparative obscurity to the second strongest power in the Reichstag.

Representatives of the German national peoples party joined the exodus, together with some members of the Agrarian party, the latter declaring they would return only for the purpose of opposing "critical measures."

Bruening Watches
Chancellor Heinrich Bruening and part of his cabinet who were present in the Reichstag, watched the unusual scene in stony silence. The center and left broke into ironic applause as he outraged Hitlerites and their sympathizers stalked from the chamber.

While their numerical strength had made the fascists in imposing parliamentary body, the decided swing of popular sentiment behind the moderate policies of chancellor Bruening resulted in a series of fascist defeats in the Reichstag during the last few weeks.

Over the heated protests of fascist deputies, Bruening's financial reform measures were passed by the Reichstag, and all attempts of the Hitlerites to accomplish their "revolution from within" through disorganization of parliament were fruitless.

The crowning blow came early this morning when after a stormy all night session, the governing government delivered two crushing blows to the fascist and communist opposition.

By a vote of 292 to 9 the government bloc of deputies voted to lift parliamentary immunity, thus exposing some seventy fascist and communist members to immediate court prosecutions on various charges. Among those liable to trial are Joseph Goebbels, Berlin lieutenant of Hitler and the fascist minister of the interior Dr. Wilhelm Frick of Thuringia.

BERLIN, Feb. 10.—Before a reichstag rendered strangely quiet by the voluntary withdrawal of fascist deputies, Foreign Minister Dr. Julius Curtius today expressed the hope of a new era in Europe when France and Germany will cease to be "traditional enemies" and become fast friends.

Franco-German understanding, the successor to Gustav Stresemann declared, is the basis of European peace. "Despite several rebukes," Dr. Curtius said, "Germany has not lost hope that the French and German peoples will finally come together."

GROVE CITY, Pa., Feb. 10.—Work on locating a site for the Grove City postoffice to be built at a cost of $120,000 starts at once, is the notification of Hon. T. C. Cochran, congressman from this district whose interest in the matter secured the building for the community.

That official writes that the treasury department will advertise at once for "tenders" of property. Following proper advertisement the buyers will arrive from Washington and will make selection of the site from the property offered. The government has certain requirements for a site and insofar as possible, will meet them in their selection of local property. Following the site purchase the plans for the building will be drawn that the whole may harmonize.

It is the desire of the government, reports Cochran, to push the matter along as fast as possible.

The Immensity Of Space

By S. S. MYERS

I see by the papers that Einstein has abandoned his theory concerning the curvature of space. How does that effect his theory of Relativity?

It really does not effect the theory of Relativity. It was merely a side issue to that theory and does not prove or disprove it. Whether space is finite or infinite is a problem still unsolved. It is too great for the human mind to grasp. That is, we cannot conceive of infinity, a thing without beginning and without end.

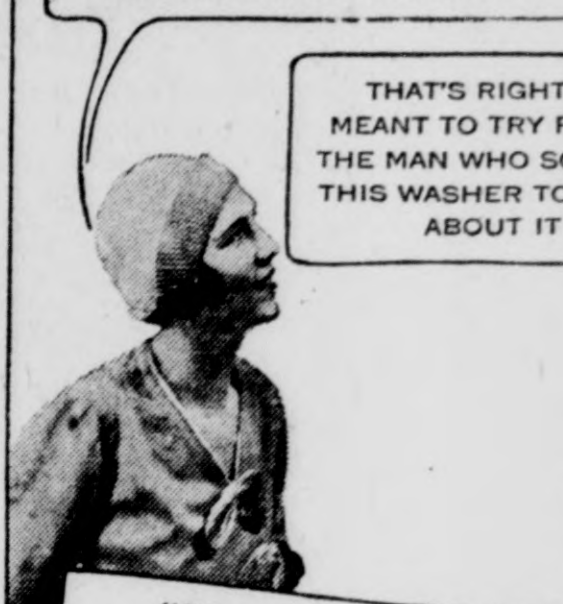

To illustrate, let us say we start out into space in a straight line and travel with the speed of light, 186,000 miles a second, for ten million years, and at the end of that time where are we? Now according to Einstein's theory of the curvature of space we would be back where we started. But Einstein says he will have to abandon that theory, so that leaves us up in the air, so to speak.

I can think of space only as the immensity of nothing, a dark, cold void. Where does it lead to? No where. What is beyond it? Nothing. Has it any limit? No. In this immense, unlimited void are millions of suns lighting up radiating heat around them for a limited distance.

When we look away from the earth in the day time we are not looking into space; we are looking up into the diffused light of the sun in our atmosphere. At night we can see out into space, but if the atmosphere should suddenly be removed we would see black, frigid space in which the stars would gleam with a brilliancy never witnessed through the atmosphere.

And through this black void the universes are moving at a tremendous rate of speed, their suns and systems of worlds moving in curves, circles or ellipses, and all moving around a central point in the universe. The entire universe in moving in some direction somewhere, perhaps also in a curved line. Where we are going, when we will arrive or what will happen if we ever get there is a problem too deep for the human mind to solve.

KANE, Pa., Feb. 10.—Joseph O'Leary, six weeks ago elected chief of police here, was still without a job today.

Borough council at an adjourned meeting last night heard Burgess E. W. Albertson's evidence to support his contention that O'Leary was not a fit person to be chief due to his association with "persons of no visible means of support and reputed to be violators of the law."

After hearing evidence, council reinstated O'Leary and the burgess promptly suspended him again. New charges will be announced at the next council meeting.

Fred McFarland, Ridgeway attorney, represented O'Leary. Visitors crowded the council chambers and overflowed into the corridor and street.

HOUSE DISPOSES OF EIGHT BILLS

House Still "Getting Up Steam" To Go Ahead With Good-Sized Program

By ROBERT F. GORMAN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Feb. 10.—Though the "full speed ahead" signal was hung out in the lower chamber of the legislature, the house today was still getting up steam to move forward on its real legislative program.

In a short and colorless session, the house opened its legislative week by disposing of eight bills on its first reading calendar, receiving more than a hundred new measures and then adjourning until today.

Joint Session Today.
At noon, the house will meet with the senate for a joint session when Governor Pinchot will address both chambers on unemployment, highways, utilities and other subjects on which administration-backed legislation will be presented.

At the opening session, a group of administration election measures drafted as joint resolutions to amend the constitution were presented by Rep. D. Glenn Moore, Washington. The resolutions will be referred to the elections committee today and are expected to be reported out with little delay.

The proposed election code, which has the approbation of the administration, was also presented in the house by Rep. Moore while his companion appeared in the senate under the aegis of Senator Frank J. Harris, Allegheny.

A bill authorizing an increase in the councilmanic borrowing capacity of Philadelphia from $2,000,000 to $8,000,000, introduced by Representative Sterling of Philadelphia, set up what likely will be a speed record for the session. Less than an hour after its introduction it was referred to the committee of ways and means, the committee met, took favorable action and the measure was slated to come out today for a place on the calendar.

Toll Bridge Bill.
Under provisions of a measure sponsored by Rep. Wade, Cumberland, the auditor general, state treasurer and secretary of highways would constitute a commission to take over and operate toll bridges for the commonwealth. A companion bill, also presented by Wade, authorizes the highway department to make a survey of privately owned toll bridges in the state with a view toward ascertaining cost of their purchase by the commonwealth.

The survey is to be reported to the 1933 session of the legislature.

In a measure introduced by Rep. Williams, Lackawanna, provision is made for prohibiting sheriffs from posting peace proclamations indiscriminately. The fact that a strike exists or a labor dispute is in progress would not, under the measure, constitute a breaking of the peace and sheriffs would be liable to fines of $500 for indiscriminate posting of proclamations in such instances.

Many Bills Presented.
A resolution asking congress to pass the Frazier resolution, providing for amendment to the federal constitution to make impossible the engagement of the United States in war was presented by Rep. Hoopes, Socialist, of Berks.

Other measures introduced at the opening session of the house included:

Wilson, Berks—Permitting cities to write their own charters and operate under home rule.

Hermansen, Luzerne—Making compulsory the placing of foot walks on bridges, viaducts and trestles over which trains operate, to promote additional safety for railroad workers.

Baker, Union—Authorizing sheriffs in second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth and eighth class counties to appoint solicitors.

Wicklin, Philadelphia—Providing for registration of firearms and regulating their sale. The measure is substantially the same which promoted a fight in the house two years ago and which was killed largely through efforts of rural members.

Stevenson, Mercer—Providing for payment of salaries of sixth class counties on the first and fifteenth of the month.

Relations Dinner Planned By Club

An international relations meeting is being planned for February 16 by the Business and Professional Women's club, and it promises to be a big event and one of great interest.

Mrs. William Cosel of this city, who attended the "Cause and Cure for War Conference" held a short time ago in Washington, D. C., has been invited to the meeting and will be on the speaking program.

Attorney Clarence Patterson will give a talk on the "World Courts". Representatives from the city Girl Scout troops, under the direction of Miss Nance Pugh, will bring an international message.

Members of the inter-relations committee, which is sponsoring the meeting, are Miss Alice Sterling, Miss Mary Twell, Dr. McLaughlin, Miss Rose Butz, Clara McCready and Irene Maple.

Rheumatism Goes Swollen Joints Vanish

How To End Rheumatism In Less Than A Week

If you suffer from torturing rheumatic pains, sore muscles or stiff inflamed joints, it's because your system is full of the dangerous poisons that cause rheumatism and make thousands helpless. What you need is RU-MA, and need it right now.

RU-MA acts on the blood, stomach, kidneys and liver, and drives the dangerous rheumatic poisons from the system through the natural channels of elimination—it eases pain the first day.

You must use an internal medicine to free the joints and muscles of crippling stiffness, soreness and torturing pain. That's why RU-MA succeeds while external remedies and pain denouncing drugs give only temporary relief.

New Castle Drug Co., Ecker's says no matter what kind of rheumatism you have, or how long you have suffered, try RU-MA—it must completely end all rheumatic agony or you get your money back.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Seven at least and possibly more than a dozen persons will be named in four amended indictments to be returned today by the county grand jury investigating the Bank of United States, it was reported this morning.

Two of the indictments, it was said, each accuse three bank officials, five persons are named in a third indictment and seven are named in a fourth. It was believed, however, there would be a duplication of names in some of the indictments, thus reducing the total number accused.

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 10.—A number of district organizations of the Westminster College Alumni society are planning meetings this month and next, alumni office officials announced.

Following the mailing of 1,900 letters to alumni last week, there has been a steady flow of letters to the alumni office here containing membership dues in the society. By the end of the week the total should reach 500.

Kruschen Salts—(a perfect combination of the six mineral salts your body should have to function properly) purify your blood of harmful acids, and aid the kidneys and bowels to throw off waste material—the continual formation of which is probably the cause of your fat.

In this modern age of living, it's impossible to get these salts from the foods you eat—but don't worry just as long as you have Kruschen Salts.

Take a half teaspoon every morning before breakfast in a glass of hot water—little by little that ugly fat disappears, you feel better than ever before—years younger, more energy. You'll soon put on that enviable beauty, clear skin, sparkling eyes, superb figure which is perfect health can impart.

An 85c bottle lasts 4 weeks at Ecker's or New Castle, Inc., New Castle Drug Co. or any progressive druggist in America. Money back if Kruschen doesn't convince you that it is the safest, quickest, easiest way to lose fat.

A Hartford woman writes, "I'll tell the world Kruschen Salts is wonderful stuff to reduce." An Ohio woman lost 10 pounds with one bottle.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 10.—The senate received from Secretary of the Commonwealth Richard J. Beamish a resolution from the General Assembly of South Carolina urging congress to pay World war veterans the adjusted compensation on their war risk certificates.

The Legislative League, composed of rural members, adopted a resolution calling for revival of the Wheeler-Flynn road construction bill of the 1929 session. That measure provided for continuing construction of 3,000 miles of state highway and the Legislature would have the assembly appropriate $20,000,000 to carry out his provisions.

Fearful the impression may spread that Governor Pinchot is attempting to set up a political machine, Senator Frazier, Philadelphia, presented a resolution urging the governor strike his "oath of allegiance" from notary public application appointments.

The new blanks issued to applicants for notary posts contains a pledge that the applicant will "loyally support the policies approved by the people at the 1930 election."

All the applicants and notaries, Senator Frazier said, did not approve those policies and "nearly a million people" expressed their disapproval at the November election.

Mayor Guy said it was only proposed to throw a couple of small baskets full of pullet eggs as a ceremonial gesture and give the 100 cases to charity relief organizations.

Auto Dealers Make Decision To Hold Show

Annual Exposition Will Be Held In Cathedral Last Three Days Of February

TO COMPLETE PLANS ON FRIDAY EVENING

At a well attended meeting held Monday noon in the Elks club, the New Castle Automobile Dealers' association unanimously decided to hold their annual show in the Cathedral February 26, 27 and 28.

Three new members were added to the association during the past week, the Reo Sales, Universal Sales and Rogers Motor Co. giving the association a solid front for the coming exhibition.

President A. C. McCoy will name his committees at once and plans will be gotten under way as quickly as possible.

Another meeting of the association will be held Friday evening in the Elks club, following a dinner at 6:30, when final arrangements will be made and the working plans outlined.

According to present indications, the coming show will be one of the best ever held by the association, and many features will be combined to make the affair an attractive one for the public.

There was considerable disappointment expressed earlier in the year when the proposition first came up and decision was then made to abandon plans for a show this year.

Due to the pressure of public wishes in the matter, the dealers decided to go ahead with the show, and it is believed that the public will respond with a liberal attendance at the affair.

The committees will get down to work immediately making plans for the exhibition, and will announce the complete details within a few days.

growing out of an automobile accident, which was on trial before for $262.35. The accident happened on Mahoning avenue. Bernine was driving west and Masteko east when their cars collided and each blamed the other. Bernine alleged that he was on his own side of the street when the Masteko car came across the center line and struck him.

Woman Cleaning Basement Of Church Reports Attack To Police

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The Concordia Lutheran Evangelical church was the scene of a crime reported to police today by Mrs. Eva Eschinger, 40, widow and mother of two children.

She said two men confronted her while she was cleaning the basement of the church and asked for the pastor. She said he was out and they asked permission to inspect the church as they planned to enroll their children in the Sunday School. When she admitted them they demanded "where is the money kept" and when told money is not kept in the church, she said one of the intruders pointed a pistol at her and forced her to walk to the rear of the basement where he attacked her.

LEGISLATORS STUDY NEW STATE ELECTIONS CODE PROPOSED FOR ACTION

By ARTHUR B. DONEGAN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Feb. 10.—Interest of members of both chambers of the legislature today centered upon a bulky document of 428 pages which for the time at least, overshadowed all measures upon the desks of both senate and house.

The document was the proposed Pennsylvania election code, presented in the senate at last night's session by Senator Frank J. Harris, Allegheny, and in the house by Rep. D. Glenn Moore, Washington. The measure represents the prolonged work of the Pennsylvania Elections association and 33 allied groups interested in "clean elections."

Briefly, the proposed code revises, amends, consolidates and simplifies the laws of the commonwealth relating to nominations and elections, registration of electors, nomination and election expenses and election contests.

It also, according to its supporters, makes for efficiency and economy in administration of the registration and election laws and provides a method of doing away with the influence of "machine politics" by setting up a system of election control vested in the secretary of the commonwealth.

Dominating feature of the proposed code is the sweeping away from county commissioners in counties of the first, second, third and fourth classes and from functioning registration commissions their power over conduct of elections by setting up in their stead a county board of elections, operating under regulations issued by the secretary of the commonwealth.

The proposed code also provides for a system of permanent, personal registration for the commonwealth, designed to supplant the existing annual registration. Under the provision of the code, electors would be permitted to register in person any day in the year except for a period beginning 30 days prior to an election and ending five days afterward. Once registered, under the new plan, the voter would not be required to re-register unless he failed to vote at least once in four years or moved into another district.

Provision is made for registrars of vital statistics to report deaths of electors, whose registrations would be canceled to keep voting lists clean and public service companies would be required to report removal of residents. An accompanying provision would require the voter, on election day, to sign his name to a voter's certificate for purpose of comparing his signature on the registration card. The present law providing for a place for parties on a primary ballot is amended under the code to provide that a party must have polled 10 per cent of the total vote cast at the preceding general election to obtain a place on a statewide ballot. To obtain a place on a municipal or county ballot a party must poll 15 per cent of the total vote at the last previous general election.

Provision is made, in the measure before the assembly, for elimination of the names of presidential electors and placing of the names of candidates for president and vice-president on the ballot under the heading of "Presidential Electors." It strikes at the "assistance of voters" evil by providing assistance will be permitted only where physical disability exists and the elector declares his need for assistance formally to the registrar. Time for closing the polls is changed from 7 p. m. to 9 p. m.

Another feature of the code attracting considerable interest is that section supplementing the present law providing for opening ballots and ballot boxes and making it possible for candidates, an allegation of error, to call for a recount and have the returns promptly corrected. By deposit of a cash sum or a bond, any candidate or group of candidates may secure recounts in any district on petition to the election board.

The proposed law aims at prevention of "chain voting" by providing that all ballots be numbered in the upper right hand corner and detachment of the number when it is deposited in the ballot box.

In the penalty system, jail sentences for convictions of the more serious violations will be mandatory and violators will be disfranchised for four years and "publicly disgraced" by the sentencing judge.

The Corrupt Practice Act is strengthened, proponents of the code say, by stipulating that no political committee will be permitted to extend funds for any candidate in a primary unless authorized by the candidate in writing. This stipulation will apply to independent committees in general election, also, but does not apply to regular party committees.

Under the provisions of the code, political activity by appointed public office holders in cities and counties of the first class is prohibited. Office holders appointed by the state and county governments are prohibited both from soliciting and making political contributions, and the code provides that no office holder may serve as a watcher.

The secretary of the commonwealth is empowered to audit the expense accounts of candidates or committees in state-wide elections under the provisions of the code while county boards of election will be given the same power in county or municipal elections. The code incorporates the present voting machine law in the proposed election system, empowers the secretary of the commonwealth to examine machines previously installed, to contract for machines for any county where they have been voted but not installed and to see the machines "locked-out" are eliminated in usage of the machines.

The Wickesham commissioners seem agreed that revision is inevitable, but they would save a lot of time by giving some dates in their forthcoming final report.—The St. Louis Times.

WHAT MAKES PEOPLE MOODY?

Do you know that our health and our moods are closely related to intestinal cleanliness? When the system is clogged by constipation, poisons are generated. Often these bring on headaches and listlessness. You feel blue, or become irritable. The poisons of constipation frequently aggravate nervous troubles, rheumatism, high blood pressure and heart trouble. Yet constipation can be overcome by eating a delicious cereal: Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Two tablespoons daily are guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. Try it with milk or cream. Use in cooking too. Recipes on the red-and-green package. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

INCOME TAX FACTS

No. 8
Of the millions of taxpayers who will be required to file returns for the year 1930, the vast majority are entitled, in addition to the personal exemption of $3,500 for married persons and heads of families, $1,500 for single persons, and a $400 credit for each dependent, to a further credit of 25 per cent of the tax on the full amount of their earned net income.

Earned income is defined as "wages, salaries, professional fees and other amounts received as compensation for personal services actually rendered. However, all net income up to $5,000, whether actually earned or not, is considered earned income for the purpose of this credit. A taxpayer who in 1930 received a salary of $4,000 and a profit from a real estate transaction, or other business venture, of $1,000 may treat the entire amount as earned income. When it is shown by statistics that out of a total of approximately 4,000,000 returns filed more than 3,000,000 reported incomes of between $3,000 and $5,000, the far-reaching benefit of this reduction is understood. Following is an example of how a single person with no dependents should compute his tax on a net income of $4,000.00:

Net income $4,000.00
Less personal exemption 1,500.00
Balance taxable at 1 1/2 per cent 2,500.00
1 1/2 per cent 37.50
Less 25 per cent of $37.50, earned income credit 9.38
Balance of tax payable 28.12

The maximum amount that may be claimed as earned income is $30,000, although the taxpayer actually may have earned an amount in excess of that sum.

SCOUTS NAME OFFICIALS AT MONDAY ELECTION

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 10.—A Republic landslide occurred in the Boy Scout election Monday afternoon, the whole Republic ticket taking the election by a great margin. Their votes nearly doubled those of the Progressives.

Frank MacIoge is the Boy Scout Burgess and Hugh Timblin the tax collector. Members of the borough council are Robert Liebend, Walter Max, Vaughn McCullough, Robert Ferris, Charles McCurdy, Robert Hudson, Buster Johnson, Jack Gelbach, Dave Bolotin, and William Bradley. Members of the board of education are Wilbur Kellar, Lavern Vinroe, Ed. Vinroe, Robert Sprague, Robert Stevenson, George Bunney, William Krebs.

Sometime today the city council will meet to select a chief of police, a fire chief, and a city manager.

Then the scout board of education will sit in on the regular meeting of the board of education this evening, and transact the usual routine business. According to the platform Burgess MacIoge is advocating the community shall receive prompt legislation and that the Boy Scout movement will reach its greatest heights during his reign. He maintains that there is too little parental interest in this movement which he has resolved to increase.

The newly elected officers will take over the affairs of the city, on Thursday morning 11:00 o'clock and will govern for one hour. Then at 1 o'clock Scout Burgess, Frank MacIoge along with actual Burgess Judd C. Turner will be the guests of the Scout mayor and Mayor W. H. Gillespie of New Castle at a dinner at The Castleton.

Manhattans To Battle Leaders In Pittsburgh

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 10.—The Ellwood City Manhattans will invade Pittsburgh this evening for the last time. They are scheduled to battle the League leader Lafayette for the last time also.

They would derive pleasure out of nothing else so much than to administer a defeat to the strong Pittsburgh club. It was this same club that had started the local team on the road to ruin. The Manhattans had 6 straight victories, even the Lafayette earlier in the season was included in this, until they met again at Columbus Temple in Pittsburgh where local members dominated. After this defeat the lesser clubs had beaten them. The Charlevoix quint and the Feldman once, all in succession.

Tonight the Manhattans are going to Pittsburgh with the purpose of avenging their previous defeat and thus be one ahead of the defeats administered between these two teams.

Tomorrow evening the Manhattans will entertain the fast stepping Pitt all Stars in the Shelby auditorium. The contest will receive much interest from New Castle as well as Ellwood.

Rod And Gun Club Elects New Officers

Annual Meeting Of Organization Takes Place On Monday Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 10.—The Ellwood City Rod and Gun club held its regular monthly meeting in the Schweiger hall Monday evening at which the annual nomination of officers took place.

The meeting was in the nature of an anniversary. The club had been organized January 13, 1930.

The club is now one year old and the members are very proud of their accomplishments in such a short period. The club is nearly 450 registered members strong. It is also registered with the state game, fish, forestry and water bureau. It has shared in many affairs of interest to the public. In the recent pollution of the rivers here this organization took an active part in getting proper legislation passed to prevent this in the future.

The old officers of the organization opened the meeting. President C. A. French, Vice President J. A. Hays, Treasurer E. W. Gamble and Secretary Thomas A. Gartley. The board of auditors composed of Rev. W. E. Minter chairman, Mike Shuster and J. A. Keefe pronounced the books as O. K. and with a handsome balance left for the new year of its existence.

The organization then proceeded to nominate new officers. It is the by-law of the club that the president and vice president are not eligible for re-election and that these persons automatically become directors. Dr. C. M. Iseman was the only person nominated for president. Russell Sittler and R. D. McCoy for vice president. The present secretary and treasurer were directed to vote for themselves and emerged victorious with one vote apiece. These also become directors. Other members of the board nominated are Chance Forbush, John Kimmick and Charley Ross, who is the only new member.

The old officers spoke on the accomplishments of the organization and following the newly nominated gave their campaign speeches.

A trip to the club grounds was planned for the near future on the old Irwin farm on the Ellwood-Beaver Falls road.

Then after all business was out of the way the organization was entertained by some motion pictures and then adjourned for lunch which was prepared by John Breger and Louis Wagner and their assistants.

The Rod and Gun club will meet again on March 9.

SOME COMMON SENSE ABOUT

flu, colds, and pneumonia are again on the spread. And health authorities are everywhere urging all precautions.

Just what causes flu is not yet scientifically known. But a weakened, run-down condition may lessen our chances of escaping flu—just as it lessens our chances of escaping other winter ailments.

So it's wise to keep our resistance high. Avoid worry and exposure. Eat wholesome food. Get plenty of rest, fresh air and exercise. And start at once to take a good, fortifying tonic.

Doctors advise Scott's Emulsion Scott's Emulsion is recommended by doctors because it brings the remarkable health-building and disease-resisting vitamins of cod-liver oil—in the pleasantest way. Scott's Emulsion is emulsified. So it's free from that strong "fishy" taste. Easier to take. Easier to digest. And more quickly absorbed into the blood stream.

Wonderful for children!

Try Scott's Emulsion for pale, thin children, too. Made of purest, tested Norwegian cod-liver oil. Scott's Emulsion is rich in vitamin A, the growth-promoting vitamin that helps guard against disease. It is rich in vitamin D, the sunshine vitamin that prevents rickets. It also contains vital mineral elements that aid in forming sound bones and teeth.

Bruce Defeats 'Bucky' Lawless

Jack Dempsey Referees Bruce-Lawless Battle In Buffalo Ring

BANKO AND BILLY FRENZEL TO BATTLE

Sam Bruce defeated Bucky Lawless of Syracuse, N. Y., last night in ten rounds at Buffalo, N. Y. Bruce floored Lawless twice and at the end of the bout got the decision. Jack Dempsey was the referee. According to reports from Buffalo the fight was one of the best staged in Buffalo for years.

Following the fight Harry McCoy, manager of Bruce telephoned to this city and said that Bruce had emerged without a mark and would be ready for Pete August here next Monday night. "Bruce and I will arrive early Sunday morning. Pete is good and I anticipate a great bout," said McCoy.

Last night's fight was refereed by Jack Dempsey and the bout drew $8,000. The Bruce-August bout here should be a good match because August once beat Bruce, fought Sergeant Sammy Baker and Bucky Lawless and according to reports got a draw in these fights but really won the fans' verdict.

Bruce is anxious to wipe out the defeat by August when they meet here on neutral ground. August, who fought Champion Tommy Freeman two weeks ago will be as anxious to hold the upper hand with two topnotchers in the bowl ring it should be an outstanding match with an outstanding crowd.

August will arrive here Wednesday or Thursday from the Nutmeg state and will train at Jimmy Dime's gymnasium. Pete has been anxious for a year to locate in this city and it looks as though he will adopt New Castle as his headquarters. He is good enough to mingle with the best in his class and should be get over Bruce he will be a welcomed acquisition by Jimmie Dime.

Frey vs Midway
Joe Midway and Frankie Frey, local middleweight who knows how to punch, will meet in the semi-final which is scheduled to go six rounds. No one believes it will. Rather, they believe the bout will come to an end in about four frames with either Midway or Frey on the floor.

Frey has been warbling that "the Slav is an Adonis with good intentions." In other words Frankie doesn't believe Joe is as good as he believes he is. On the other hand, Midway says that Frankie is a "Big Croak" who couldn't move off a railroad track if he was being run down.

Words such as these have sent the middleweights into frenzied training. Jimmie Dime, mentor for Midway and Battling Terry, pilot for Frey have been kidding each other about the truth of the matter is they're serious about it. Dime wants Joe to win and Terry will lose his best bet if Frankie is tumbled by the wayside.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Down for counts of nine in two different rounds, Johnny Datto weathered the storm in each instance and captured the decision over Jackie Rodgers in 10 rounds at Pittsburgh last night. Johnny was down in the second and fourth. After the fourth round Datto's left flew fast and often to head and body and he was given the verdict.

Jack Dempsey was the third man in the ring last night at Buffalo when Sam Bruce beat Bucky Lawless. Bruce was given the decision. In beating Lawless, Bruce showed that the claim he has made for a titular fight is worthy of consideration. As August beat Bruce at Rochester, N. Y., and Sam wants to try and reverse the decision, a hot skirmish can be looked for here.

West Virginia defeated Georgetown 35 to 29 last night in a basketball game at Washington, D. C.

Frank Wiener, commissioner, believes all titles should be abolished as the champions in name only. He claims none of them excepting Mickey Walker are champions as he never fights to defend his middleweight crown.

Pete Bostwick, U. S. rider, brought his horse, Sir Crispin, in a winner in the Yardley handicap at Birmingham, England.

The American Association will follow the lead of the majors and adopt the slow ball this season.

Eddie Shea and Soldier Dombrowski will box Thursday night at Youngstown. Jack Dempsey will referee the bout.

Sidney Grant and Broad Meadows won their races yesterday at Hialeah park, Miami, and the fair grounds, New Orleans.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—As the various big league squads prepare to invade the grapefruit belt to inaugurate the training season, the chief topic of conversation among baseball men is the effect that the new or "small" model ball will have on pitching and batting during the coming campaign.

This intriguing subject has more angles than an old maid just completing an 18-day Hollywood diet. Much has been written about the probability of last year's record Major League home run crop of 1,565 being cut down to something like 1,250. An equally interesting feature is that many old-time hurlers who seemed doomed to pass out of the picture, now have an excellent chance to make a comeback.

Elmke Coming Back
Any day now you may expect to read that such ancient as Jack Quinn and Bill Doak have been signed by a big league club. Howard Elmke, hero of the 1929 world series, already has decided to take another fling with the Athletics.

If wee Willie Sherdel is traded to Brooklyn, the Boston Braves will get more in return for him than they would have gotten before the new ball was adopted by the National League last week.

The heavier cover and raised stitches of the new ball will infuse new life into the pitching arms of other veterans such as Clarence Mitchell, Jess Haines, Tom Zachary, Ed Rixey and Joe Genewich.

Pitchers Favored
The cover on the American League ball is the same weight as the cover of the Jackrabbit variety. Neither will there be any change in the amount of quality of rubber, cork and wool comprising the ball, so that if such sluggers as Babe Ruth and Al Simmons hit the pellet on the nose it will travel as far as ever. But the raised stitches, similar to those on the National League

SPYING ON SPORTS

Central Press Sports Editor.

The puzzling problem of locating that scheduled battle 'twixt Herr Max Schmeling and Lieutenant Will Stribling, the bout that has gained renown as "The Fight Without a Home," at last seems near settlement.

Cleveland, comes the word, may get the scrap.

And a better site for the scuffle for the world's heavyweight crown would be hard to find now that New York City and Chicago, the most logical spots for a heavyweight titular struggle, have succeeded in eliminating themselves from the reckoning.

Though it's only hinted that the Ohio metropolis may get the scrap the big Buckeye town is already agog over the prospect.

Cleveland, with its million or more inhabitants (counting the suburbs, which in many instances are surrounded by the city proper) is plenty large enough for such an important sporting event.

And then, Cleveland is the most centrally located of any of the larger cities. By that I mean you can reach Cleveland by half a day's train ride or less from nearly all the bigger cities east of the Mississippi and north of the Mason-Dixon line.

Cleveland is about half way between New York and Chicago and only a few hours from Detroit, Washington, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Buffalo, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Columbus, Newark and other large spots.

The resultant cut in the cost of transportation would make the bout far more attractive to out-of-town fans than if held elsewhere.

Though the site of numerous ring championship fights (the last one was the Tommy Freeman-Young Jack Thompson welterweight bout last September) Cleveland has never had a heavyweight brawl. The staging of the big scrap there, then, would naturally create gobs of civic pride and a grand rush to the box office by the natives.

The closest Cleveland has ever come to a heavyweight title fight was the Jess Willard-Jack Dempsey massacre in Toledo 12 years ago. At that bout a vast number of ring-siders were Clevelanders.

The bout, if held in Cleveland, would be staged in a new stadium, now under construction. As the plant will not be ready before July the fight would have to be postponed a month later than originally planned, under the direction of Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, which is to stage the fight, has heretofore preferred June as the time for benefit bouts.

As to other attractions, Cleveland possesses ideal summer weather conditions, it being the burg's boast each hot spell that it is one of the coolest summer resorts in the country.

Summers in Cleveland, take your correspondent's word for it, are pleasantly cool, compared to summers in such torrid territories as Gotham, Philly, Washington, et al. Being the size it is, Cleveland has plenty of hotel space and amusements. As for the plentiful and accessibility of liquid joy emporiums available for the possibly parched fight fans, well, that being a family newspaper the visiting firemen must look for that information elsewhere.

JIMMY MALONEY

MIAMI, Feb. 10.—Primo Carnera, in person, has arrived in Miami, scene of his next fight, and without extending himself in the least he has taken "the play" away from all the various and diversified local attractions, including the forty-ton whale on exhibition in Biscayne Bay.

Sometime next week, after he has acclimated himself to the swank of Miami Beach and Palm Beach, Carnera will begin training for his scheduled ten round bout against Jimmy Maloney, the Boston fat boy, at the Madison Square Garden stadium here March 5.

Up to the moment of Carnera's arrival last night, the ballyhoo of the Carnera-Maloney "battle of who cares" had fallen flat. Maloney has been in town, dipping his pudgy torso in the Atlantic daily, but no one, not even the advance guard of itinerant sports scribblers—gave him a tumble. "The natives had shown no interest whatever in the Bostonian."

But when Carnera ambled in, towering over his fellowmen, everything changed. Not since the circus left town was there such excitement. Natives and tourists alike thronged the railroad station and gaped at the Italian man mountain. They swarmed all over the premises and followed the big fellow through the streets all the way to his hotel. City officials, American Legion men and National Guardsmen were in the welcoming gathering.

Grove City-Westminster Game Scheduled For Tomorrow Night

Ancient Rivals Will Meet On Titan Floor At 8:15

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 10.—Traditional rivalry of years will be renewed here tomorrow night (Wednesday) when Coach Bob Thorn's Grove City College basketball team stacks up against Coach Pops Harrison's Westminster College quintet.

The Titans were fortunate to defeat the Grovers at Grove City in the opening game of the season, and the Crimson players will journey here tomorrow night determined to wipe out the memory of the setback. The Grover victory over the strong Thiel team Saturday night at Greenville as well as the defeat handed Allegheny by the Grovers would indicate that Thorn's outfit is as strong as any in the district.

Coach Harrison plans to start a different five men from those who opposed the Grovers in the initial tilt. It is likely that Koehner, Douglass and Considine will be kept on the bench to study the game in the opening minutes while Hamas and Sillander are exhibiting their style of play at forward.

Captain Phil Rice and Marsh Brownlee, leading scorers of the Titans so far this year, will be at Center. Arthurs and Williams will be ready to go in at center if needed, while Blauer will also be used at guard part of the time. Newton and Bobby will also be available for the forward posts.

Other tri-state games tonight will see Allegheny clashing with Thiel on the latter's court, while West Virginia, furthering their jaunt away from home, will take on the Temple quintet at Philadelphia.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 10.—Swinging into action after a 17-day lay-off due to examinations, Carnegie Tech's floor crew will cross with the Wash-Jeff five tonight at the latter's floor. The plebes will have their first semester team intact, at not one man was lost to them because of marks. Although they made the Wash-Jeff basketbeteers submit to an 8-point defeat earlier in the season, the Techies are not overly-confident of victory tonight as they will be playing on a smaller floor.

Keller Beaten At Indoor Meet

Phil Edwards, Former New York U. Star Flashes Home Winner In Race

FRENCH CHAMPION NOT IMPRESSIVE

By MICHAEL J. FOSTER
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Paul Keller, 800-metre champion of France, was soundly beaten in the 1,000-yard international run which featured the annual Seton Hall College games last night.

Keller was a pair of "Cinderella-sized" shoes on his plenty-big feet, and he was out of the running before the race was well under way. It was then mere formality for Phil Edwards, former N. Y. U. star, to jump to an easy 2:17.9 victory. Keller finished fourth.

Berne McCafferty, Holy Cross's husky ace, won another hollow victory in the Waldron 600. Eddie Roll was the only runner of any real merit opposing McCafferty. Alex Wilson of Notre Dame having dropped out of the race to concentrate on his anchor leg of the mile relay.

McCafferty's time was 1:14.4. The energy Wilson saved by not running in the 600 did him little good in the relay race with Georgetown, N. Y. U. and Syracuse. The race was supposed to be a grudge battle between the Hilltoppers and the South Bend Irish, but a splendid anchor leg of Milton Sandler turned it into a Roman holiday for N. Y. U. the violet ace finishing a yard ahead of Jimmy Mara, Georgetown anchor, with Wilson another yard behind Mara. N. Y. U.'s winning time was 3:31.8.

Hank Bruder, veteran Newark A. C. Sprinter, proved his Millrose victory Saturday was no fluke when he took Ira Singer, N. Y. U. star, into camp in the two short dashes in the sprint series. He shaded Ira in the 40-yard in 4.9 second and then repeated in the fifty in 5.8 seconds.

KEEPING IT HOT

Stove League Gossip

The first squawk over the major league schedules, the annual puzzles concocted by the league presidents, comes from Pittsburgh. The Pirates seem to think that the National League schedule doesn't do right by our Nell.

Pirates hopes suffered a blow when it was discovered that in order to play 77 games abroad the Bucs will have to spend 36 nights in Pullman berths, regarded as a terrible strain on the athletes.

Pittsburgh always has schedule trouble chiefly because the town is the only western major league outfit that cannot play Sunday baseball at home, which means a lot of Saturday and Sunday night railroad trips. However, Pittsburgh sympathizers say that the 1931 schedule contains features adding greatly to that already tough burden of trips.

On scanning their playing dates for July the Pirates saw more bad news. The club must play five games in four different cities in four consecutive days! These are: July 2 in Boston, July 3 in Brooklyn, July 4 in Pittsburgh, double-header, and July 5 in Cincinnati.

However, the St. Louis Cards have an even worse arrangement for the same period, playing six games in four towns in four consecutive days. The Champ's schedule shows: July 2 in New York, July 3 in Philadelphia, double-header; July 4 in Pittsburgh, double-header; and July 5 in Chicago.

Another oddity of the schedule is that Cincinnati will have played all its 11 games in St. Louis by July 11—which is about the halfway mark for the season.

Brooklyn gets the biggest week end plums—18 Sunday and 11 Saturdays, a total of 29 big week-end days. Cincinnati with 16 Sundays and 10 Saturdays and Chicago with 14 Sundays and 12 Saturdays are next.

Good Program At "Y" On Wednesday

The Y. M. C. A. floor on Wednesday night will be the scene of three fast basketball tilts. The first game starts at 7:30 o'clock.

In the first game the First Baptist B team battles the Ellwood City Collegians. The second game finds the First Baptist A team meeting the Ellwood Manhattan Reserves. The third game is between the Central Christian A team and the Shelby Tube team. The Shelby team has such stars as Boone, Latiano, Summer, Gerald, Hennon and Patterson.

New Castle Meets Evans City Saturday

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh Prepares Quintet For Only Game Of Week

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh of the high school sent his New Castle high floor team through the first workout of the week on Monday afternoon in preparation for the only contest of the week which will send the local undefeated quintet against Evans City high on Saturday night at Evans City.

The local mentor was not pleased with the showing the local players made against Mars high last Friday night. Although the Senior high team came through on the winning end they did not look impressive. The passing and defensive work was not as good as that which Coach Bridenbaugh's team is able to demonstrate.

The contest showed that New Castle will have to play better basketball if it intends to make any kind of a showing in the W. P. I. A. L. league tournament, that is if New Castle wins the Section Three title first.

Evans City was defeated by the local high five earlier in the season and will be in there to avenge for that trimming. This is the only game scheduled for the local boys this week. The schedule shows that the local team plays two more games following the one with Evans City, meeting Ellwood City and Butler.

Fossilized Fish Found In Concrete

(International News Service)
STONE HARBOR, N. J., Feb. 10.—Fifty-two fossilized tuag fish were found embedded in the concrete foundations of an old bridge here when it was demolished by workmen to make way for a modern structure.

It was thought the fish would find their way into the caisson when the bridge was built 18 years ago and that concrete was poured in for the foundation before they could escape.

A large quantity of coral was also found clinging to the foundations of the bridge when engineers began tearing it down. The coral was carefully collected and presented to the Cape May County Historical society. It is now on display at the Cape May county court house.

Coroner's Jury Clears Driver

Says Death Of George Kirker In Auto Accident Was Unavoidable

WITNESSES HEARD IN MONDAY INQUEST

Coroner's Jury in the case of George G. Kirker, who died recently in the Jameson Memorial Hospital as a result of injuries sustained in West Washington street when he came in contact with the automobile driven by Wilbur Chambers, last night returned the following verdict at an inquest held at the City Police station by Coroner J. P. Caldwell, the verdict being:

"We, the Jury, find that George G. Kirker, Youngstown Road, Union township, came to his death February 3, 1931 as a result of injuries sustained on West Washington street, New Castle, Lawrence County, Pa., January 31, 1931, when he walked or ran into the side of the automobile driven by Wilbur Chambers, and we believe that the accident was unavoidable."

Testimony presented indicated he had walked or ran into the side of the automobile driven by Wilbur Chambers, who did everything possible to avoid an accident, such as sounding his horn when he saw Mr. Kirker walk out in the street a short distance in front of the machine he was driving, also turning to the left to avoid the man, who apparently was heading into the side of the Chambers automobile, sustaining the fracture of a skull that ended in his death.

It was also shown that the driver and other occupants of the Chambers car had gotten out and did all that was possible to speed up the transfer of the injured man to the hospital, where he was afforded every possible treatment and care.

Attorney Alvah M. Shumaker represented Wilbur Chambers and Attorney J. Elder Bryan, the family of the deceased. They did the questioning and cross-examination of the various witnesses.

H. K. Chambers, owner of the machine involved in the accident and father of the driver, was the first witness examined. He testified to being in the car as it was being driven on West Washington street and toward the center of the city, between Lee Avenue and Smithfield street about 7:40 o'clock on the evening of January 31, 1931. He was seated in the rear seat of the five passenger machine, while his son, Wilbur, aged 17, was driving and Julian Miller was seated in the front seat with his son.

He said that they were proceeding at the rate of eighteen to twenty miles an hour, when a man, whom he afterwards learned was Mr. Kirker, stepped out from the curb on the south side of the street, went about four or five feet and then stopped. His son sounded the horn and then swung to the left toward the north side of the street. When they were almost up to the man, suddenly he came of leaned backwards then staggered forward and into the side of the machine. The man was about fifty feet away, when he first saw him. His son had stopped the car in fifteen or twenty feet beyond the point of the accident and they got out.

The man was lying with his head just inside the south side rail of the street car track and toward the center of the city and his feet toward the south side curb. Chambers had directed the car and ambulance called but in the meantime another car came along and he was placed in it and taken to the hospital accompanied by Julian Miller and others. This was possibly two or three minutes after the accident. Chambers had driven a car for ten years and his son for about a year, he said. He said that he thought Kirker's head struck the post at the front part of the front door and to which the windshield was attached.

The engine of his machine had been killed in the quick stop made by his son and it could not be started right away and for that reason, he said other means of taking the injured man to the hospital had been secured. His son had sustained a cut on the eyelid and was bleeding profusely and he had gone to the home of Miss Coletta Rodgers, where the injury caused by glass broken from the windshield, was attended to. He also stated that Kirker had stepped into the street opposite the Thomas Davis property and that the accident occurred about in front of the Otto store.

Driver Testifies
Wilbur Chambers, aged 17, told of driving the machine. He said that he had been driving for about two years. His testimony was in the main the same as that of his father. He said that the accident occurred about thirteen feet from the south side of curb, and that his machine was straddling the north rail of the street car track when the accident occurred. He said he thought that he would have cleared Kirker by six or seven feet, if he had remained standing where he first saw him stop. He could not have passed between Kirker and the south side curb, he said. It was his left eye that had been hurt, he said and also that Kirker did not look toward his machine when he sounded the horn and kept looking straight ahead.

Julian Miller, an uncle of the driver, and third person in the Chambers car testified much along the same lines as the other occupants. He said the accident occurred between two light and it was dark. He had not noticed Kirker until the horn sounded and Kirker was possibly but twenty feet away then. He had stopped the machine taking Kirker to the hospital because he thought speed was necessary, he said. He had held Kirker in the rear seat of this car on the way to the hospital. He had learned the identity of Kirker through a letter in his clothing, which was found at the scene of the accident. He had helped pick up the injured man, who was placed in Paul Tyrrell's car and he accompanied the injured man, Mr. Miller and Paul Tyrrell to the hospital. He did not see the actual accident.

Paul Tyrrell testified to coming up following the accident and seeing Kirker lying in the street. He didn't remember of any person asking him to take the injured man to the hospital. He told of himself, Mr. Miller, Sam Chill and Guy Bailey accompanying the injured man to the hospital in his machine.

Carl Lockard, city police officer testified that he and Policewoman Mrs. Minnie McKibben going to the hospital where they saw Mr. Kirker in the operating room on the fifth floor. Mr. Miller and an intern were removing the clothing of the injured man.

Mrs. Minnie McKibben, city policewoman, testified to being at the hospital and there being a noticeable odor of liquor.

Miss Coletta Rodgers, 1022 West Washington street, testified that her little niece Marian Waters had told her about seeing a drunken man falling across the street and then hearing a crash and going out and seeing Kirker. She said she did not know whether the man hit was the man referred to by her niece.

Little Marion Waters was then called and told of seeing the man fall a couple of times and then going in and telling her aunt. She didn't see Mr. Kirker hit, although she was standing on the porch, she said, and she couldn't be sure that the man hit was the same man she had referred to in telling her aunt.

Prior to the taking of testimony, Attorney Shumaker presented a map showing the location of the scene of the accident and the respective Otto, Rodgers, Davis and other properties figuring in the accident scene.

Hard Times Also Hit Bootleggers

Mercer County Hoosh Peddlers Have Hard Time Selling Products

MERCER, Pa., Feb. 10.—For the first time since 1922 the bootleggers of this county are up against an impasse. Previously it has been a game of wits in which they have tried out on the county police force, every known contrivance for making and peddling liquor. To be frank about it, business has been good and money made up to a point of course where the Law outwitted them. Right now they face a situation to which all of use must bow and the correction of which time alone can mend.

Conditions say the police have never been as good. There is no money to buy, hence the exodus of many of the bootleggers, forced to drink their own stuff to salvage it.

STEELE SCHOOL SHELTER
The thief who stole the shed like building which housed school children as they waited for the school bus in Hempfield township will know that the law has been mixed up in the case if they are ever caught.

The building flanking the roadside furnished protection had mornings for the school children waiting for transportation.

FISH THROUGH ICE
Fishing through the ice is a favorite pastime in the county. County Treasurer McQuiston reports sale of 100 licenses.

ASKS VIEWERS
James T. Hosack of New Vernon township has asked the court to appoint viewers to assess the damages to his property the result of road building in that township.

FEWER LIENS FILED
Curtailed of building and municipal improvements has meant a shortage here in the number of municipal and mechanics liens filed.

State Would Take Over Toll Bridges

Legislature Passes Resolution To Provide For Survey Of Such Bridges

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 10.—Pennsylvania's legislature today under took to plan for the acquisition of privately-owned toll bridges by the state when it passed the Wade resolution authorizing the state highway department to make a survey of such bridges in the state, determine the number of state highway routes, and ascertain the cost of acquiring them as commonwealth property.

The report of the survey is to be returned to the legislative session of 1933.

The resolution was presented last night by Rep. Wade, Cumberland, as a companion measure to a bill setting up a commission to acquire toll bridges and operate them as state properties.

The house went into session at 11 o'clock and got down to the routine of legislation, receiving reports from committees, passing measures along on its calendar and attending to introduction of new bills.

By the time the chamber was ready to convene with the senate in joint session for the first annual message of governor Pinchot, relating to unemployment, roads, public utilities and other matters on which administration legislation will be presented, most of the routine had been gotten out of the way.

YOUTH, 18, Held In Pal's Death At Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 10.—An 18 year old boy was arrested in connection with the shooting to death of Steve Pavalka, 18, of 1957 Concord street.

Captain Thompson, who investigated made the arrest. He found the fatal pistol and a dummy pistol made about the same size. A file, which the prisoner said he had been using to clean his gun, was also found by officers.

Boone Relic Is Found At Youngwood

(International News Service)
GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 10.—What is believed to be a rare relic of the travels of Daniel Boone through Pennsylvania has come to light here in the discovery, by Robert Maxwell, of Youngwood, of a piece of carved wood, bearing Boone's name and an inscription.

The find was made by Maxwell and his two sons, as they were walking over the old Maxwell farm, near the Harold settlement where Fort Allen once stood. Maxwell turned over what appeared to be a piece of weather-beaten wood. On closer examination, he discovered the inscription: "Daniel Boone."

Below this appeared the legend: "1765. Going to Virginia to settle." And to the left of the inscription was carved a "C."

Bill Sweeney Lands First Base Berth With Boston Red Sox

By JACK SORDS
Central Press Sports Artist
Bill Sweeney, hard-hitting infielder who failed to stick in the majors before because his fielding was nothing to excite the bleacherites, most probably will patrol first base for the Boston Red Sox this season.

The management of the Red Sox has indicated that it believes Sweeney last season showed sufficient improvement in fielding to merit his receiving the first base assignment.

Lack of fielding ability has always been Bill's bugaboo. A good hitter, Bill failed to stick with the Detroit Tigers, due to his inability to play the infield in big league style.

Installed at Toronto, Bill began to show a fine brand of first basing that International league club and last season was purchased by the Sox.

When the Sox asked waivers on First Baseman Phil Todd, who was Sweeney's superior in the field though he couldn't equal Bill at bat, wise Boston fans concluded that Manager Shano Collins expected Bill to hold down the initial sack this year.

DONORA, Pa., Jan. 10.—George Pavaleko, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Pavaleko, of 816 Heslep avenue, died yesterday in the home of his parents, succumbing to scalds received when a water bottle burst in the child's crib.

Samuel Chill of Cameron avenue, testified he was walking down town, when he heard a crash and went back about a hundred feet to the scene of the accident. He had helped

Auburn Stocks Furnish Stock Market Fireworks

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Fireworks in the stock market in the early trading today were furnished chiefly by the sensational 16 1/2-point jump in Auburn Auto to 191.

Country-wide reports of a trapped short interest in the stock and a possible "corner" concentrated the principal Wall Street interest of this stock at the opening of the market. A heavy over-night concentration of buying orders forced the stock 11 1/2 points higher, but even at that price stock was scarce and a further jump to 191 was needed to meet the requirements or urgent buyers.

Yesterday's boiling market attracted wide buying demand all over the country and the early trading was heavy. The first half-hour's turnover was 800,000 shares, in which were included a number of 10,000 share to 20,000 share blocks of the favorites. Outside of Auburn there were few spectacular price movements. Industrial Rayon advanced 8 1/2 points to 66 an another drive against the shorts, but the balance of yesterday's high flyers were more subdued.

Wall Street predicted a favorable report from the Steel Corporation at noon today on the monthly compilation of incoming orders for the month of January, and on that basis U. S. Steel forged ahead 1 1/2 to 145.

Bethlehem Steel reached a new peak for the year at 87 1/2. Westinghouse and a few other high-priced favorites advanced a point or two and General Motors made a moderate improvement over Monday's best price.

The general run of Industrial stocks and Utilities were unable to make much progress against the sea of profit taking and short selling which poured in near the noon hour. Bond and money markets were steady and call money unchanged at 1 1/2 per cent.

Presbytery Meets In First Church

Winter Program Takes Up Matters Of Interest In The Various Churches

The First Presbyterian church on North Jefferson street is the gathering place for members of the Shenango Presbytery for their mid-winter meeting today.

Rev. J. A. King, pastor of Bell Memorial church of Ellwood City, moderator of the presbytery, is presiding at the day's sessions. At this morning's session, which began at 11 o'clock an action to dissolve the pastoral connection of Dr. P. E. Burt and the First Presbyterian church of Sharon, was taken under advisement. Dr. Burt has been called to the First Presbyterian church of Sioux City, Iowa, the largest church in that state and the members of the presbytery granted his severance with the Sharon church. During Dr. Burt's pastorate of eight years in Sharon the congregation has built a beautiful modern church edifice. Many members of the presbytery spoke in behalf of Dr. Burt's work.

The address the morning was delivered by Dr. W. C. Johnson, a veteran missionary, who is home on furlough from Africa. Dr. Johnson has spent practically thirty years in this mission field and is interesting talk on his work there was greatly enjoyed by the presbytery members.

He spoke of the work of evangelism and education and told of the efforts made by the missionaries to improve the industrial and home conditions of the natives.

The First Presbyterian church entertained the members at luncheon and the afternoon session took up items of interest.

The world hasn't changed. Old Diogenes with his lantern wasn't looking for an honest man. He was looking for publicity.

Hoover's Observe Anniversary

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The President and Mrs. Hoover observed their 32nd wedding anniversary today.

The usual routine at the White House was undisturbed, and there was no special commemoration of the day.

The Hoovers will be dinner guests tonight of Attorney General and Mrs. Mitchell.

PARDON BOARD LAST HOPE FOR IRENE DAGUE

ing, upon due public notice and in open session, and such recommendation with the reasons therefor at length, shall be recorded and filed in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Governor Powerless

Here in Harrisburg in the past few days, the possibilities of executive clemency have been discussed among newspapermen on Capitol Hill and the argument advanced that in spite of a refusal upon the Pardon Board to act, the governor could still commute either or both of the pair, by Executive Clemency. Opinions were asked of various officials and while some of them tinged with doubt as to what course the governor could pursue, the one decision that is felt to be the most authoritative was that the governor of Pennsylvania was powerless to act unless such recommendation was first made by the Pardon Board.

In the history of Pennsylvania since the adoption of the present constitution in 1874, no governor has ever granted a pardon or commutation without a recommendation of the board, although the governor is not bound by such recommendations. He can overrule a recommendation, but cannot commute or pardon without a recommendation from the Board.

In the office of the Board of Pardon, the secretary, Francis H. Hoy, Jr., secretary of the Board has the records of the cases of Irene Schroeder and Glenn Dague ready for the board's consideration on Wednesday morning, February 18th.

Each of the records are in heavy manila envelopes, and in the record of the date of the execution entered, with the date of the execution set at February 23rd.

Gruesome Record

A rather gruesome record, this book which is kept by Francis "Cap" Hoy. In it one finds the records of all criminals who have been sentenced to the electric chair since this form of execution was adopted in 1915. From Lawrence County come the names of Albert (Torrence) White and Thomas Verne Ryhal who went to the chair in 1922.

Carelli, Valotti, Jaworski, these and scores of other names familiar to the criminal docket appear and after most of them, the one significant word, "executed."

If Irene Schroeder is executed she will be the first woman in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ever to be electrocuted, and the first in forty years to be executed by any means. Since Mr. Hoy has been the secretary of the Pardon Board there never has been a woman executed.

A resume of the figures in the files of the Board of Pardon shows some interesting facts and comparisons. The figures are those kept since 1915. In the four years he was governor, Martin G. Brumbaugh had 756 applications for pardon or commutation before him. There were for various crimes. Of the 756, 252 pardons were granted, the percentage being 46.5 per cent.

In his four years Governor Spruill had 1284 applications for pardon or commutation and of this figure, 382 were granted, or a percentage of 29.7.

Governor Pinchot in his first term further reduced the percentage of pardons or commutations granted when he granted 529 out of 2039 applications. Governor Fisher set a low record for pardons when he granted 406 out of 1850 applications or 22 per cent.

In his four years Governor Brumbaugh issued 62 death warrants, of which number 49 men were electrocuted, 9 commuted, one recalled, and 2 died before the date of the electrocution.

Governor Spruill issued 92 death warrants of which 71 were executed, 17 commuted, one recalled, and two died before the date of the electrocution. Governor Pinchot in his first term issued 78 death warrants, of which 45 were executed, 27 commuted, 2 were recalled, and one died before the date of the electrocution.

Governor Fisher issued 44 death warrants, of which 35 were executed, 4 were commuted, none was recalled and none died before the date of the electrocution. The warrants of Irene Schroeder and Dague were issued by Governor Fisher but because the appeals for commutation could not get before the Pardon Board in December and January, he issued a respite to them until February 23rd. If the Pardon Board on February 18th refuses any recommendation for commutation to life imprisonment, it seems certain that Irene and Dague will go to the chair on the morning of February 23rd, along with another man who is under sentence for the same day. This will mean three executions between seven and seven thirty o'clock on Monday morning, February 23rd.

The new Board of Pardon will see two new faces. The president of the board is Lieutenant Governor Edward C. Shannon and with him will be another new face, Richard J. Beamish, the Secretary of the Commonwealth, the other two being James F. Woodward, Secretary of Internal Affairs and Attorney General William Schnader.

Interest in the fate of the two convicted murderers of Corporal Brady Paul is nearly as general in Harrisburg as it is in Lawrence County. The fact that one of the slayers is a woman has added to the interest and the probabilities are that their appeals for commutation to life imprisonment will be attended by a large number of newspapermen.

BOY SCOUTS NAME HAWKINS MAYOR

Union township and East Brook as well.

Scout authorities here departed from their previously announced plan of electing county officers also. The county troops were to vote for them, but a last-minute change in arrangements switched things so that they could vote for the city slate.

Only the city officers will be filled by Scouts on Thursday, not those of the county.

The election committee for the northern district comprised Commissioner Ralph F. Davis and Deputy Commissioners James H. Gwin and Dr. R. C. Lutz. They compiled the votes after the polls closed in the afternoon, the counting continuing well into the night.

Mayor Popular

Hawkins the first Boy Scout to be privileged to be mayor here for a time, is an active leader in all Scout affairs. He holds his membership with the Highland U. S. P. troop, where he has been active as a senior patrol leader. He also is prominent in Hi-Y work.

Mac Leslie, who waged a dangerously close fight, also is a leader in Scout activities. He promises to support Hawkins, now he's elected, and throw to him the help of the entire Republican party.

After his notification today the mayor-elect said he would name his appointive officers just as soon as possible. A fire chief, chief of police and several other assistants will be named.

Interest in the outcome of the election was made evident when tellers at the Boy Scout in the Greer building began receiving telephone calls from different points early last evening. One entire delegation of Scouts visited headquarters before the counting task had been completed to learn whether their candidate had won or lost.

How They Voted

The statement of the tellers, following the count last night, was: "After carefully totalling up the votes cast by registered Scouts in the city of New Castle, the borough of New Wilmington, the village of New Bedford and in Union township and at East Brook we find the election to result as follows:

The Progressors:

Mayor, Tom Hawkins, 58; councilmen, William Woodward, 54; William Offutt Jr., 43; Robert Ray, 54; Jonathan Brown, 39; city treasurer, Roger Rowe, 40; city controller, George Winter Jr., 43.

The Republicans:

Mayor, Mac Leslie, 44; councilmen, Tom Rambo, 52; Raymond Bennett, 57; Robert Rodgers, 42; Alfred Stump, 43; city treasurer, Herbert Christman, 60; city controller, George Horton Jr., 53.

A new senior high school located in the central part of the city is one of the aims of the Progressors, whose party leader carried them to victory yesterday. They urge that a new viaduct be erected from Croton to the North Hill and want Lincoln avenue repaired. Besides that they'll suggest to the city fathers a score or more of other things they want done.

Whether the Progressors will win everything they favor remains in the council chambers will be but one. Mayor-elect Hawkins will be invested with more than the usual power, inasmuch as it may be his duty at times to break a tie.

Gillespie Gets News

Mayor Gillespie and members of city council were notified of the election outcome this morning and told Scout Executive Horton they would await the signal to step out. The youthful officers will be sworn in just as Mayor Gillespie and the councilmen were sworn into office some time ago.

Exercises attended their installation will start a few minutes before 11 o'clock Thursday morning. Until noon they will be invested with the administration of the city.

The new mayor-elect is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Hawkins of Moody avenue. Mr. Hawkins himself is a member of the local council.

Croton Union Meets.

The Croton Union of the W. C. T. U. met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Frederick Hill on Mulberry street with 14 being in attendance. Mrs. William E. Caldwell had charge of the devotionals and Mrs. Jesse Nolan, vice president, presided over the meeting.

A talk on "The Life of Frances Willard" was given splendidly by Mrs. Sherman Kitson. Prayer led by Mrs. Hill closed the session.

A delicious collation was served at a suitable hour by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Charles Martin and Mrs. Caldwell.

They will hold their March meeting at the home of Mrs. Sherman Kitson on Beckford street, with Mrs. Douthett as the speaker.

HAD GRAND JURY DISMISS CASE

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—A reluctant admission that he may have been used without his knowledge, in calling off the St. Paul federal grand jury before it could investigate the post office lease there in August, 1928, was obtained from Former Assistant Postmaster General John H. Bartlett today by Senator Blaine (R) of Wisconsin, chairman of the senate committee investigating post office leases.

The admission came after Blaine had reviewed previous testimony that the grand jury—the second called in connection with the St. Paul "scandal," had been dismissed the day after it was to reopen the investigation.

Bartlett testified last week that former Postmaster General Harry S. New read the first grand jury's report charging fraud and corruption in the lease for the St. Paul Commercial station, and sought the removal of Assistant District Attorney John K. Fessler, who had presented the original case.

Steps Are Traced.

Blaine traced the various steps taken by the department of justice and other investigators preceding the calling off of the grand jury and asked:

"Do you now realize that you were used on your trip to St. Paul to get the grand jury called off?"

"I can see now that I was probably used to quiet the people and that played a part in dismissal of the grand jury."

"You realize that you were a convenient vehicle for what they wanted to do?"

"I can see now that I was used."

The witness was unaware of any attempt to prevent the second investigation by the grand jury. He went to St. Paul about July 27, 1928, Blaine said, and en route, handed to the late James W. Good, in Chicago, a sealed personal letter from New.

Bartlett said Good, previously identified as the secretary of war in President Hoover's cabinet, did not discuss the contents of the letter.

Good was attorney for the Jacob Kulp Co. of Chicago, the firm that held the St. Paul lease.

It was at the request of Good that the 20 year lease negotiated in 1920, was cancelled and a new lease with the usual cancellation clause eliminated, was signed the same day Good conferred with New.

Falls Dead While Asking Police Aid

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 10.—While asking Sergeant William Quinlan for medical aid, Alfred Gilchrist, 38, Oklahoma avenue, fell dead at the police station of apoplexy.

Dr. J. P. Kenny, police doctor, who was standing nearby, was unable to revive the stricken man. He declared death due to apoplexy and a weak heart. Gilchrist was a World War veteran. An honorable discharge was found in his pocket.

Gilchrist asked that he be sent to a hospital, and Quinlan told him he first would have to see Dr. H. W. Weinberg, city physician. As the man was talking he suddenly collapsed.

Strike Gusher In Tioga County

(International News Service)

WELLSBORO, Pa., Feb. 10.—High point of interest in Tioga County since the biggest natural gas well east of the Mississippi was brought in early last fall, Farmington township now shares honors with Lawrence township, where a second gusher has been struck on the farm owned by the Farr family.

Though the flow at the second well so far has averaged but $500,000 cubic feet, drillers who worked on the shaft believe the flow will increase and possibly exceed that of the first well brought in.

New Bid Is Made For World Peace

Foreign Secretary Arthur
Henderson, Of England, Makes Peace
Speech

OUTLINES HORRORS FOR NEXT CONFLICT

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
LONDON, Feb. 10.—A new bid for world peace, coupled with a warning that another conflagration faces it unless public opinion is mobilized within the next year in favor of drastic reduction of world armaments, was launched today by Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson of Britain.

Speaking at a disarmament meeting in Queen's Hall here, the statesman asserted it was beyond the power of statecraft to humanize warfare, and as a result, the "next war" must be immeasurably more terrible and disastrous than any known in history. High powered armored aircraft using poison gas in attacks over large cities, exterminating entire communities, were pictured by him as one of the inevitable terrors of any future major conflict of nations.

Countries Depressed

The present depressed economic condition of most countries of the world was blamed by him on the recent war, but he regarded it as a mere trifle in comparison to the aftermaths of any future world conflagration. The complete collapse of national industries and capital was held unavoidable in future international conflicts.

Henderson, calling on the peoples of all countries to "make the world safe from this age-long scourge of war," lamented the fact that "lessons of the last war have already been forgotten."

"But the next war will not be like the last," he declared. "It will be incomparably worse. It will be fought by aircraft using poison gas.

To Be Fought In Air

"Have you ever thought what in recent years the Royal Air Force manoeuvres over London meant?"

"They meant that, like every other European military staff, the Royal Air Forces is now expecting that the next war will be one of decisive air attacks against the great centers of industry and civilian population."

"It is useless for us to protest that such warfare would be an international crime. We have surely learned that it is beyond our power to humanize the conduct of modern warfare."

"We may be certain that when the next war occurs, it will bring destruction of life on a scale such as we have never imagined."

Postal Leasing Inquiry Resumed

Blaine Senate Committee
Delves Further Into St.
Paul Leasing

EX-POSTMASTER WOULD TESTIFY

By PIERCE MILLER
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Resuming its inquiry into more than 400 post office leases, the Blaine senate committee today delved further into the St. Paul post office lease. This lease involved charges that a grand jury was called off and that former postmaster general Harry S. New had caused the removal of assistant District Attorney Fessler at St. Paul as a result of his activities before the federal grand jury.

New has asked Chairman Blaine
(R) of Wisconsin, to be permitted to appear to refute the charges, made last week before the committee by former assistant postmaster general Bartlett. The latter served under New.

A second grand jury, according to a statement read into the committee record by Blaine, was dismissed three days after it was sworn August 6, 1928. Bartlett denied knowledge of his having been sent to St. Paul in 1928 to call off that grand jury.

The first grand jury had brought in a scathing denunciation of the St.
Paul leasing "scandal," and it was after reading the grand jury's report, that New, according to Bartlett, suggested that Fessler, who presented the case, should be removed.
Blaine said Fessler resigned to assist to the federal district attorney there.

Issue New Ruling On Flags For Vets Funeral Services

Beneficiary Of Veteran Must Purchase Own Flag And Present Receipted
Bill

Under a new ruling just issued by the U. S. Veterans Bureau, relative to claims for re-imbursement for funeral expenses of U. S. war veterans, the family must provide the flag used to drape the casket, and in presenting a bill, must have it receipted.

Heretofore, the government allowed $107 for funeral expenses, $7 of which was allowed for a flag. In some cases no flag was used and the claimant collected anyhow.

The government now allows $100 for funeral expenses and will allow up to $7 for the purchase of a flag, but the receipted bill for the same must be presented in order to secure payment.

This information has been received by the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, which acts as the clearing house for veterans' claims.

It is expected that eventually, the government will purchase flags for burial service, which can be procured as some central point in each county.

Special Services At Salvation Army

progress at the Salvation Army Hall, 34 West Washington street, are continuing in interest and will be

There will be a special service for men only on Wednesday evening at eight o'clock, when Mr. Tyler will speak on the subject "A Rod for the Fool's Back."

At the service held last evening, a number of persons came forward to the altar, while many others held up their hands for prayer, and pledged themselves for a new and better life.

Arlington Avenue Home Is Ransacked

Mrs. J. L. Good Is Awakened
By The Robbers Pounding
On Bedroom Door

Home of J. L. Good, 845 Arlington avenue, was entered about eleven o'clock Saturday night by robbers, who ransacked the house, secured four dollars in money and possibly a ladies watch, and departed when Mrs. Good on being awakened screamed for help.

Mrs. Good was alone at the time and had been asleep about three-quarters of an hour, when she was awakened by a pounding on her bedroom door, which she had locked.

On the first sound, she called out asking if it was her husband. Getting no answer, she called again, then she heard what seemed a number of people going down the stairs of her home and thoroughly frightened she called out the window to a man seen passing. He did not hear her and she screamed for help and several men and boys responded from the East Washington street district. They told her that they had seen some persons leaving the rear of the home, which was found open.

The house had been thoroughly ransacked, contents of drawers being strewn about the floor, in the evident effort of the robbers to secure something of value. They took a pocketbook containing $4 in dollar bills and Mrs. Good believes they took her watch, which she has been unable to find.

The pocketbook and the holster of a gun were found later in the back yard. In the keyhole of her bedroom was some cotton, which gave off a peculiar odor, which is believed to have been some substance probably used to put her to sleep, while the house was being ransacked.

The police according to Mrs. Good believe that entrance was effected through a downstairs window.

Clarence Patterson Reports Theft Of Car

Attorney Clarence Patterson, 702 Wilmington avenue, reported to the police today that while in Youngstown last night that his Ford Sedan, Pennsylvania license C. P. 19 had been stolen. The police here are on the lookout for the stolen machine.

Eight Philadelphia policemen are going to school in New York to learn police methods over there. But not all of them, it is to be hoped.—The
